Sweden's 'Kosenkina' Case

Front-paged in every Stockholm paper was the story of this Russian girl, Lydia Marcell, who arrived in Sweden three years ago and has no inclination to return to her motherland. The Soviet Embassy has been anxious to send her back to Russia, but Swedish Foreign Office spokesmen reportedly told the Russians "to leave her alone." The girl has been working as a maid. Mrs. Kosenkina Is Improving After Reported Sinking

Russian Teacher Eats Good Breakfast Under Oxygen Tent

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—Improvement was reported today in the condition of the Russian school teacher who a week ago leaped from the third floor of the Soviet consulate.

During the night she had been reported sinking at Roosevelt Hospital.

A bulletin issued at 10 a. m. (E.S.T.) said: "Mrs. (Oksana Stepanovna) Kosenkina's condition shows improvement this morning. Her temperature is 101. Pulse is 110, which is strong. Breathing more easily since being put under an oxygen tent. She ate a good breakfast."

The hospital said the patient had not been advised that the Soviet consul general had been invited to send a surgeon for consultation. The invitation was issued yesterday by the hospital.

A spokesman for the hospital said today that it was similar to the invitation that would be extended to the private physician of any private patient, and was for consultation purposes only.

A bulletin issued at Roosevelt Hospital at 5 a. m. (E.S.T.) reported the teacher's condition as critical and unchanged after a restless night of irregular sleep. Her temperature remained at 103. Her pulse was 100, a drop from 104 recorded at midnight, and her respiration was 32, down from 36 at midnight. The midnight bulletin said she had slept for long intervals in the late evening.

Mrs. Kosenkina, 52, who suffered multiple fractures and other injuries in her leap a week ago today, has been given several blood transfusions. She was placed under the oxygen tent yesterday.

Her physician, Dr. Grant Penney, telephone to Soviet Consul General Yakov M. Lomakin last night and offered to have him name a surgeon for consultation with Penney and other hospital doctors.

Lomakin received the suggestion courteously. Dr. Penney said, declared he was anxious to confer with Dr. Penney and agreed to a meeting today.

Dr. Penney said he had not promised Lomakin that the doctor be picked would be allowed to diagnose, prescribe or even examine Mrs. Kosenkina.

The consul general, who contends Mrs. Kosenkina's leap was a suicide attempt, had complained that the police guarding her at the hospital had barred consulate officials from seeing her.

Hercules Increases Personnel in Plant

Increases in the personnel of The Hercules Powder Co., Port Jervis, within the next few weeks is expected to boost the total employees to more than 700 by the middle of September, the management said today.

The plant has taken on employees at various times during the summer and expects to add between 50 and 60 more within the next two or three weeks.

The increase is due to mounting orders, but the management said it was unable to say whether some of the new business is because of government demands.

State Aid Tops Last Year Period By $6,305 Figure

Ulster county's share of state aid to municipalities under the Moore plan for the period to August 15 is $93,047.24, Jay W. Rifenbury, county treasurer, has been advised by the state comptroller.

Checks for that amount, which is $6,305.95 more than the $86,741.29 received for the same period last year, have been mailed to the various towns, villages and the city of Kingston, the comptroller's announcement stated.

Kingston's share is the largest, $17,023.25, the following table of distribution shows:

Denning	266.25
Esopus	3,745.25

Dairymen's League Moves To Halt Murtagh Probe

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, one of the major milk distributors in New York city, has moved in court to halt the city investigation Commissioner John M. Murtagh's probe of milk pricing practices.

On application by the league, State Supreme Court Justice Henry C. Greenberg issued an order yesterday directing Murtagh to show cause when his inquiry does not exceed his powers.

The order is returnable August 30.

The Dairymen's League is one of three large milk companies under investigation in the probe, ordered by Mayor William M.

Soviet-Controlled German Press Hits At Western Powers

Moscow Talks Are Bugged by Contradictions, Is Report; May Issue Own Currency

Berlin, Aug. 19 (AP)—Sections of the Russian-controlled German press charged today that contradictory attitudes of the western powers bogged down Moscow talks on the Berlin crisis and the German problem.

These newspapers made the charges of obstructionism along with a renewed propaganda broadside against western occupation policies and Berlin's anti-Communist city government. The city government has just made known it may issue its own currency in an attempt to unravel the divided city's east-west monetary snarl.

The Moscow talks among representatives of the Big Four powers are reported nearing an end. The western diplomats there were conferring again today on the status of their negotiations with Prime Minister Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov.

The intensity of the attacks by the Communist press here on the city government and the western powers seemed to indicate that the deadlock is continuing on major issues in Moscow. At the start of the Moscow talks, the Communist press of Germany had so-called attacks.

One Communist newspaper charged the western diplomats had expressed agreement with proposals of Stalin at the start of the Moscow talks, then suddenly reversed themselves when they took the matters up with Molotov. The Berliner Zeitung and the National Zeitung gave this version a big display, attributing it to "trustworthy Paris sources."

Their account said: The west agreed with Stalin that only Soviet-sponsored currency should circulate in Berlin; that east and west both should lift restrictions on traffic between Berlin and western Germany; that representatives of the west agreed to a conference to consider the problem of all Germany after Stalin demanded that the establishment of a separate western government be put off.

"However," the account went on, "when they went to negotiate with Molotov, the western representatives changed their stands and presented new proposals, including one for four-power control of Soviet-sponsored currency in Berlin. Molotov could not agree to this, asserting the western powers had no claim to control of Soviet zone currency any more than the Soviet Union could ask to share in the control of the Deutschmark in the western occupation zones."

The Russians stand on their demand for a single currency for Berlin—under Russian control, the press said. The Russians insist on unilateral control over the commerce of all Berlin's industries and that all trade between Berlin and western zones must be handled through the economic agencies of the Soviet zone, it added. This would freeze out the Anglo-American joint export-import agency and give the Russians a stranglehold on Berlin which could lead eventually to its incorporation into the Soviet zone.

The meeting was originally called for 7:30 p. m. but the committee recessed for about 10 minutes while Chairman Martin read a letter from John J. Schwenk, chairman of the charter revision commission. Schwenk's letter follows:

On August 3, 1948, I, as chairman of the Charter Revision Committee, forwarded to the state comptroller's office a copy of the proposed revisions to the charter of the City of Kingston, for study and to recommend any changes they considered necessary and proper to conform with state law.

Yesterday, Mr. Albert of the State Comptroller's Office called my attention to Article 9, Section 15, formerly Article XII, Section 6 of the constitution of the state of New York. The constitution given by the Court of Appeals to this section of the Constitution seems to indicate that a referendum upon a municipal question

Text on Teacher Is to Be Delivered After Marshall Approval

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Aug. 19 (AP)—Top State Department officials put into final form today a note rejecting Soviet accusations and demands in the case of the refugee Russian school teacher.

The document was scheduled to be delivered to the Soviet Embassy by nightfall provided the text could be finished and approved by Secretary of State Marshall in time.

Marshall himself laid the basis for a sweeping rejection and probably a stern rebuke to the Soviets when he said yesterday that evidence now available to the State Department does not bear out their charges against the American government and some of its officials.

Deep Concern

Marshall went on to say that the United States views these charges with serious concern. Not only are they unsupported by the evidence, he said, but they actually are refuted by the actions of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, one of the teachers involved. Mrs. Kosenkina's most dramatic action was to leap last week from a third story window of the Soviet Consulate in New York. This came after after consulate officials had insisted she was not being confined there but rather was enjoying the protection of Soviet authorities following her "rescue" by them from a White Russian refugee farm.

The implication of Marshall's comment appeared to be that he considers the Soviets have made charges which in some respects at least they knew were not true.

Direct Opposite

The Soviet attitude toward the case of Mrs. Kosenkina and the refusal of Mr. and Mrs. Mikhail Sumarin to return to Russia is the direct opposite of the official American view. There has been no indication that the Russians intend to modify their stand at any point, regardless of what facts the American Government may be able to establish. Thus the ultimate result of the exchange of notes seems certain to be another diplomatic stalemate.

Hearing Is Held On Charter Plan

Board of Estimate Proposal Draws Criticism of Some Groups

Opposition to the proposed setup of the Charter Revision Commission's draft of an amended city charter, centering on the inclusion of a board of estimate within the charter, was voiced by several spokesmen of groups and individual taxpayers during Wednesday night's public hearing conducted in the city court room.

The hearing was called by Alderman James E. Martin, chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee after the proposed charter had been referred to that group during a recent meeting of the Common Council.

The meeting was originally called for 7:30 p. m. but the committee recessed for about 10 minutes while Chairman Martin read a letter from John J. Schwenk, chairman of the charter revision commission. Schwenk's letter follows:

On August 3, 1948, I, as chairman of the Charter Revision Committee, forwarded to the state comptroller's office a copy of the proposed revisions to the charter of the City of Kingston, for study and to recommend any changes they considered necessary and proper to conform with state law.

Fair Extension Is To Be Considered By County Group

Records were set in attendance, exhibiting space and nearly every other aspect of the Ulster County Fair and Farmers' Field Day at Forsyth Park Wednesday, Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, and executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce said today.

Attendance at the 1947 fair, was estimated at between 7,000 and 8,000 and this year was believed nearer the latter figure, while commercial exhibits more than doubled the number a year ago. More space was used also for other displays on the grounds, the secretary said.

Suggestions to extend the fair beyond the customary one day have again been made, Kurdt said, and they will be considered at the next meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County Agricultural Society.

The secretary thanked the Kingston Police Department, Board of Public Works, Recreation Department and all others contributing to the success of the fair.

The police department, he said, did commendable work in handling traffic and avoiding congestion, the public works department assisted in work details and the recreation department co-operated in staging the athletic events in the municipal stadium grounds.

Also outstandingly helpful in promoting this annual event is the Ulster County Farm Bureau office which cooperates with the Ulster County Agricultural Society in handling the many details, both in advance and on the day of the fair.

The list of winners in the poultry, vegetable, cattle and horse classifications were available today, but those of the 4-H Club winners, have not been completely listed.

The list of winners completed to date follows:

Poultry (sweepstakes)—Frank A. Van Deusen, Tilton, best pullet; Richard Boice, Lake Katrine, best cockerel; Krass F. M., Elbow, best pair, and the same, best cock, and Alan DuBois, Gardiner, best hen.

Vegetables (best collection)—Kraus Farm, Albany avenue extension, 1st place; Ralph A. Tice, Spring Glen, 2nd; Salvatore Modica, Sawkill road, 3rd; and Mrs. Walter Buran, Hurley avenue, 4th.

Vegetable (sweepstakes) to grower having the largest number of entries—Vincent Maggioro, Plank road.

Fruit (plate exhibits, mostly by future farmers' clubs)—Donald Barringer, Esopus, 1st, and Theodore Scholm, Jr., Esopus, 2nd.

Grasses (two groups)—A—Lake Katrine, first; Rosendale, second; Patron, third, and B—Ulster, first; Huguenot, second, and Milton, third.

There were also nine group exhibits and two juveniles, Ulster Park and Stone Ridge, along with Pomona.

In the cattle divisions, a blue ribbon in first place, red, second, white, third and green, fourth.

Cattle, Holstein—Charles Relyea, Jr., Hurley, one blue ribbon; Roger S. Hoomebeck, Stone Ridge, one red, one white and one green; Ray DuBois, Gardiner, one blue, one red; H. C. Stadium Crowd Honors Ruth

Nick Kaslich and Kenneth Hyatt, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, place a large floral wreath bearing the number three near home plate before Wednesday night's baseball game at municipal stadium. The wreath was a part of the sober memorial service for the game's greatest star, Babe Ruth who died this week. The number three on the wreath, the number always worn by the Babe, was a silent goodbye to the former Yankee star. During the memorial service County Judge John M. Cashin paid a final tribute to the Sultan of Swat as he spoke of the Babe's greatness. (Freeman Photo)

Babe Ruth's Funeral Attracts Thousands of Mourners

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—Funeral services for Babe Ruth today in towering St. Patrick's Cathedral climaxed the nation's mourning for the king of baseball.

Silent thousands of persons—the famous who knew him in person and the obscure who admired him in spirit—thronged the Roman Catholic Cathedral and overflowed onto Fifth avenue.

Francis Cardinal Spellman presided at the requiem high Mass for the big guy with the happy grin who rose from a Baltimore orphanage to undisputed monarch of the national sport.

The great doors of the cathedral were open to the public—symbolic, said friends of the Babe's upon heart to the people in the bleachers and the kids in distant places to whom his name meant great sportsmanship.

About 6,000 persons crowded the cathedral to the door, a police-estimated 50,000 others stood gravely outside under gray skies on hushed Fifth avenue and surrounding area. A 250-man police detail was on duty for the largest funeral in New York in years.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey headed the list of pallbearers who included prominent sportsmen and sports writers.

Among those present were Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York; Mayor James M. Curley of

Wage Negotiations Are at Stalemate, Says Hutton, Company Spokesmen

An estimated 400 to 500 members of Brick Handlers' Union Local No. 1467 failed to report for work this morning at five local brickyards after no settlement was reached in wage negotiations, it was learned from brickyard sources.

The yards which reported the men absent from their jobs today were the Terry Brick Corporation and The Hutton Company on North street, the East Kingston Brick Co., Inc., East Kingston, and Philip Goldrick and Sons and the Kingston Brick Corporation at Goldrick's Landing. Yards at Glasco and further north were not affected, a spokesman for Washburn Brothers Company at that place said.

According to George V. D. Hutton, president and treasurer of

Governor Asks U.S. Action At Once on Power Project

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today he has urged the Federal Power Commission to "process without delay" the state's application for approval of a joint New York-Ontario power project on the St. Lawrence river.

Dewey told the commission, in a letter released by his office, that the need for power was "urgent and vital to the economic development of the region affected by the St. Lawrence, as well as of utmost significance to the national defense."

He said the application should be processed without delay and only with the reservation that nothing be done that will hamper the fullest development of the seaway.

The Federal Commission, Dewey said, had asked for his "comment and suggestions" on the proposed 2,200,000 horsepower plant to be located in the river's international rapids section near Massena.

The commission, in a letter to the governor, said the State Power Authority's application had been forwarded to the International Joint Commission which must approve water projects affecting Canada and the United States.

It has been estimated the power development would cost $390,000,000 to $428,000,000. New York and the Canadian province of On-

President Says Rights Infringed

Committee Has Violated Bill of Rights, He Says; Defends U.S. Loyalty Program

Refuses File Again

President Says Once More Information Is Not Available

Washington, Aug. 19 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today ordered three former New Deal lawyers to appear for questioning tomorrow in its Communist spy ring investigation. They are: Nathan Witt, Lee Pressman and John Abt.

The committee also said that Alger Hiss, former State Department official accused of being part of a pre-war Red underground in Washington, has refused to submit at this time to a lie detector test.

Hiss has denied time and again under oath that he ever was a Communist. He now heads the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

These developments came as President Truman lashed out at the committee. He accused the group of infringing the Bill of Rights in its inquiry into alleged Communism within the government.

Mr. Truman made that statement at a news conference as he took issue with criticism of his administration stemming from the congressional investigation.

The President repeated his previous claim that Senate and House committee hearings have produced no information not already in the possession of the F.B.I. and presented to a Federal Grand Jury.

He also asserted that the government's loyalty review program is a complete success.

Cites 'Differences'

Mr. Truman said there is a difference between the confidential files of federal employees and their employment records. He made clear once again that the confidential files will not be made available to Congressional committees.

The President's reference was to efforts of Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) and other G.O.P. leaders to obtain confidential files of government employees suspected or under investigation for alleged disloyalty. Mr. Truman has directed executive departments to withhold such records from the committees.

Mr. Truman made his comment when a reporter asked whether there has been any change in his dispute with Ferguson, chairman of a Senate Investigation Committee.

"The necessary records, Mr. Truman said, always have been available."

It was learned from another source that Whitaker Chambers has not been arrested by a Federal Grand Jury in New York city investigating espionage. Chambers has acknowledged to the House committee that he was a Communist from 1924-1937 and worked with a Communist underground in Washington.

The Justice Department has declined to comment on this in any way, repeating that it will not discuss proceedings still in progress before a grand jury.

Mr. Truman said he could say categorically that the government's loyalty program has been a success.

He added that the Justice Department has been at work for some time on a proposed new loyalty statute.

He said it was a very difficult thing to get a statute that does not infringe on the bill of rights which is a cornerstone of American freedom.

He said sharply that he does not want any Gestapo law that does infringe on the bill of rights.

"Do you consider that the House hearings have infringed on the bill of rights?" a reporter asked.

The President replied yes, that he does.

The congressional spy investigators are going ahead with their search for new evidence. They said they had lined up three new witnesses for secret testimony before the House committee.

What they are after primarily at this point is not direct testimony about the operations of a Communist underground in Washington.

 tario would share the cost. The plans were filed July 16.

Dewey, in his letter to Leon M. Fuquay, Federal Commission secretary, said that "for ten years, I have urged publicly and privately the development of the St. Lawrence river, both for purposes of power and for purposes of navigation. These are still my views."

ment of the power "should not be delayed by the issues raised on the other phases of the project. The need for hydro-electric power has ceased to be an academic one of the future."

The seaway phase of the two-point program—navigation and power—has been opposed strongly by groups in New York port cities such as Albany, Buffalo and New York. Some of the seaway's toughest opponents, however, have supported power aspects of the project.

Hearing Is Held

will be of doubtful validity if passed at a general election held in an even numbered year, instead of in an odd-numbered year, at which time municipal officers are to be elected.

Since the validity of the charter, if submitted and passed this year, could be questioned, I recommend that this matter be referred to the Corporation Council. If it is the Corporation Council's opinion that this matter should be submitted to the voters next year, instead of this year, this will offer more time for your committee to give careful consideration to all of the suggestions and comments to be made by interested citizens at the public hearing this evening. Signed, John J. Schwenk.

Proceeds With Hearing

Following the reading of this message, Chairman Martin expressed the committee's view that the letter should be forwarded to the Corporation Council for his opinion, but that the hearing should proceed as planned.

A five page document was read by George E. Yerry, Jr., president of the Ulster County District Council of Carpenters and business agent for the Kingston Metal Trades Council, voicing the objections on behalf of these two groups he represented. He further suggested that in view of this proposed document that the committee in charge should advise the Common Council to refer this entire matter for further study by it and to take no action towards its adoption for at least another year.

Chief objections offered by Yerry are as follows:

1—A four year term for a mayor is too long for a poor or inefficient mayor.

2—Making the mayor the president of all three-man boards and commissions that are designed for purely political reason gives too much autocratic power to one man.

3—That the proposed board of estimate would exercise life and death over the present Civil Service employees since the board determines the number of employees of each department. This board has arbitrary power in fixing salaries and wages and in such matters will not be influenced by anyone. The board, will in effect, run the city.

4—Section 59 gives absolute authority to the board of estimate in fixing salaries of wages and is too drastic. The power should be left with the boards as at present.

5—The comptroller assumes additional duties not now required by the treasurer. The present accounting officer automatically becomes the deputy comptroller. Does he lose his rights accrued under Civil Service if he accepts such an appointment?

6—Employees of the police and fire departments are prohibited from attending any political convention. Employees also are prohibited from ever again submitting a referendum to the voters.

7—Declared that the salary fixed for the mayor, $6,500, is inadequate. The salaries for the Common Council members are just as they equal salaries paid to the board of supervisors.

8—Proposed that the present

Common Council immediately enact a resolution fixing the salaries as proposed for the officials mentioned in Section 13 and making them effective as of January 1, 1950.

Why Not in Meeting?

As to the list of suggestions and objections, Chairman Martin informed the labor spokesman that it was his belief that many of the items in his message could have been thrashed out during the regular meetings of the commission, of which Yerry had been a member. The matter of Yerry's attendance at the commission meetings also was brought out by a direct question by Martin. Yerry answered by saying that he had attended the final meeting when the final draft of the proposed charter was approved.

The labor spokesman also declared that he dislikes the continual flow of suits being brought into the courts against the City of Kingston and that it was his hope that a formidable charter could be drawn up to prevent these suits.

Another speaker was Arthur Ewig, former corporation counsel, who admitted that the old charter needs a lot of changing but thought that an intelligent discussion by the public of the proposed charter could not be held unless the public could read the revised provisions and study them. He advised that the matter be deferred for the present time until such copies of the charter could be made available.

Would Abolish Commission

Frank O'Neil, former supervisor of the 13th Ward, followed Ewig and requested that the so-called commission be abolished. Later during the hearing, O'Neil voiced his lack of confidence in the present commission to form a good working charter. His last comment followed a word of praise by Captain Andrew S. Hekey who said that he had the utmost confidence in the present commission.

The former supervisor told the assembly that in view of the legality ruling of the charter, the Common Council should recommend the appointment of a new group with more experience to handle the charter revision work. He added that the present group does not truly represent a cross section of the city.

Francis Martocci, local attorney, who spoke as a representative of Local 316, representing state, county and municipal employees, criticized the inclusion of the board of estimate within the charter as being granted too much power. The board of estimate, according to the charter, would consist of mayor, comptroller, alderman-at-large, one appointed by majority members of council and one alderman appointed by the minority. Its duties would be to fix salaries, award contracts and prepare the budget.

Martocci exclaimed that either political party in office could control too much with this power vested by the charter. He also scored the possibility of some jobs being eliminated through the board of estimate. He said that this rule, through the charter, does apply to the employees of the treasurer's office and the water department where long time employees could be thrown out of work quickly and effectively without recourse. He said the same applies to the police and fire departments.

Before concluding, Martocci admitted that something must be done with the charter but that the commission in charge of revision should have the backing of the public.

C. LeRoy Brower spoke briefly and cited the lack of any stipulation in the proposed charter for the annual mandatory increments to the city employees. Nathan Freese, taxpayer, and Captain Hekey also were heard in brief speeches following which Leo W. Clare, another taxpayer, read a letter in which he said he was completely opposed to the revised charter.

Asks Uniformity

William F. McDonough, executive representative of the Civil Service Association, Inc., said: "We believe that the charter should provide definitely that there shall be a uniform classification plan and a uniform salary plan with definite lines of promotion and mandatory annual increments."

"Naturally, there must be an agency for administering these plans. Obviously it should be a personal agency, the Civil Service Commission."

"There should be definite assurance that reorganization will not be made the vehicle of salary reduction or ruthlessly abandonment of necessary jobs. We believe that the charter should establish a basic holiday week with time and a half for overtime."

"We believe that a definite statement should be made that the Civil Service Commission shall establish sick and other proper leaves."

"We believe that there should be provisions for emergency salary adjustments to meet inflationary or other emergency conditions."

"We urge unemployment insurance provisions. We urge a public employees' labor relations board."

In answering a question as to why enough revised charter booklets were not published, John Schwenk, chairman of the Revised Charter Commission, defended the group by saying that the booklets would cost money and providing the Common Council did reject the revised charter, the public would chastise the commission for its waste of money.

Walter Donnaruma, former alderman, also spoke briefly and said that in view of the impending Thru Way and bridge across the Hudson from Kingston, he thought that there was need of further serious thought on the subject of revising the charter. He advised that the best possible charter be written but that the officials in command proceed slowly.

The former alderman also asked Chairman Martin if any additional hearings on the charter would be held. Chairman Martin answered by saying that he was unable to say until he hears the opinions voiced by the Corporation Council.

Harry Seitz, deputy city clerk, later voiced the question if there was any provision in the revised charter for a deputy city clerk. He declared that in his opinion the revised charter abolished his present job. Chairman Schwenk answered this question by saying it was not the intention of the commission to eliminate any jobs.

Alderman-at-large Charles J. Turck asked the chair if the deputy city clerk's job was necessary in the city government. No answer came from the chair.

Speaking on the same subject, Francis Martocci declared that under the proposed board of estimate there would be no question that the deputy city clerk job could be abolished. "The important thing," he said, "is that if the proposed charter was passed this man would be out of a job, a suit would be brought against the city and this man would have to finance his own court battle."

Carlton Preston, a member of the Charter Revision Committee, defended his work on the group and said that he worked for the community and the taxpayer.

whereas most of the comments voiced at the public hearing were by spokesmen of groups. Leo W. Clare took exception to this remark and informed the chair that he was in attendance as a taxpayer.

Before the hearing was ordered ended, Chairman Martin invited all groups and individuals who had constructive criticisms to write them to the committee at the city hall.

The chairman then expressed his sincere appreciation to all who attended and particularly thanked members of the charter commission. He reiterated the integrity of all the members of the commission and promised that no quick action would be made in passing the charter.

The revision was prepared over the past six months by the Charter Revision Commission consisting of John J. Schwenk, chairman; Arthur A. Davis, Jr., Carlton Preston, George E. Yerry and James Murphy. Thomas Miller was the secretary.

credit allowances to some stores, but it has refused to give information about its price lists.

League President, Henry H. Rathbun said the organization served notice "on Murtagh yesterday that it would not submit part of the information called for in the subpoena."

Rathbun said Murtagh's demand to see the price lists "constitutes a threat to the continued operation" of the league in New York.

Rathbun said he had been advised that any demand for data in addition to that already given to Murtagh "is completely beyond the province of the commissioner's authority."

Murtagh has claimed finding indications of monopolistic practices by some major companies in the milk industry, price fixing, improper rebates to retail dealers, and collusive bidding on public contracts.

The milk companies have denied any improper practices.

ON ROAD OF SHIPPING RECOVERY
The last American-built, American-operated passenger ship was launched in 1940. In the five following years this country's shipbuilding industry attained the greatest size and productivity in our history. But few of the wartime vessels are used or usable today, and none of them, of course, is anything like a luxury liner.

So when the war was over three or four European countries had a big jump on America in carrying a bumper crop of passengers. America's deficiency worried people in the shipping business for three reasons: the U. S. was missing out on a lot of revenue; it was leaving itself vulnerable, in a time of uneasy peace, to a serious lack of fast transports in the event of an overseas war; and it was dissipating the skilled nucleus of a vital industry through lack of work.

For three years there was intermittent concern over the situation. The President appointed a fact-finding group, the Keller Committee, to look into our shipping needs. The committee presented a long, detailed list of recommendations. Nothing much came of them. A couple of bills to revive the shipbuilding industry were introduced in Congress. Nothing was done about them, either.

Then the other day American Export Lines signed a contract with the Bethlehem Steel Co. for two fast passenger liners. They will be used in the shipping company's Mediterranean service, and will cost at least $16,830,000. The log jam of inaction was broken not by executive or legislative decree, but by the efforts of individuals.

Credit is due the members of the Maritime Commission and John E. Slater, executive vice president of American Export, for the start. After Mr. Slater persuaded the commission to increase the subsidy to 45 per cent, the members simply put to use the powers and money they already had. In two days work on the new ships was under way, although the keels will not be laid until spring.

It remains to be seen whether the 45 per cent subsidy will serve as the financial pattern for a revival of our passenger shipbuilding industry. But it does seem certain that it provided the impetus which will start some wheels turning, at least. Meanwhile, the first two contracts carry with them some very tangible benefits.

They will give 24,500,000 hours of work to 5000 shipbuilders for 28 months. When completed, the ships will offer long-term employment to 1100 officers and men of the Merchant Marine. They will add a yearly berth capacity of 60,000 to trans-Atlantic traffic which now is short some 600,000 berths annually. And from the standpoint of national defense, these ships will be able to carry 2500 men apiece if they have to be used as transports.

The United States must travel a long road to recover its prewar position in this department of the shipping trade. At the time of Pearl Harbor we had 113 passenger ships active, with a capacity of 35,000 passengers. Today we have only 39 with a capacity of 13,000 passengers. But even though the road is long and the start is late, there is still good reason to be thankful that the start has at last been made.

STEEL FOR RUSSIA
According to a Munich paper, one of Russia's great material needs may soon be filled. Plans are being made for a great steel-producing center near Cioewitz in Upper Silesia, where large quantities of coal are obtainable. The necessary iron ore can be shipped in from Sweden, which has reportedly promised one-third of its exportable iron ore to this project. The scheme for economic cooperation between Poland and Czechoslovakia is responsible for the enterprise, with an annual goal of 4,000,000 tons, may prove to be a rival of the Ruhr Valley.
This news would make more pleasant reading if it could be assumed that the output of the area would be used to supply the Russian people with the every-day necessities which they are said to lack. It also

ART WITHOUT MONEY
Suppose Billy Rose or some other Broadway impresario took over the management of the Metropolitan Opera House, what could he do that Oscar Hammerstein failed to do with his operatic venture? The answer, of course, is the same for opera as it is for the symphony and the ballet. These forms of art were never intended for commercial exploitation and the traditions that surround them and the needs that create them are different from other forms of human expression which do lend themselves to box office management. It is necessary to play the less popular as it is necessary to have a course in Indo-Iranian languages in a fully staffed university.

Such a musical play as "Oklahoma!" can run for several years, but suppose the Metropolitan were to attempt to give "Parsifal" a six months' run? Those who are most concerned with listening to opera want a varied fare and that is why they subscribe in advance to an entire season of opera. It is much the same with the symphony as is evidenced by this amazing spectacle of 7,000 persons coming up to the Berkshires to listen to an all-Tchaikovsky program and many of them motoring 50 or 100 miles back and forth to do it. Actually the theatre would be improved if the ancient stock company were restored. The Metropolitan put on 28 different operas last season. No theatre in America does anything of the kind. Mr. Rose, for instance, may put on a show a season, with perhaps an interlude, at his "Diamond Horseshoe." In the good, old days of stock, the American actor learned the stage and he knew the theatre, even as some English actors who come over do these days. Most American actors are so narrow and circumspect in their theatrical experience that they become typed and limited and their acting is always of a kind.

No theatrical producer risks putting his money into a stock company, because union wages and union rules would kill him financially. Yet that is precisely what the Metropolitan has to do if it is to remain an opera house. It keeps an orchestra of 102 men; it maintains a payroll of 550 men and women. The average pay of its musicians in the orchestra is $5,600 for a 29-week season. During that period, the musician can teach, do other work, if he desires, and is thrifty in the use of time; certainly, he can increase his earnings during the 23 weeks when he is not serving the Metropolitan. But the musicians are not the only factor; the Metropolitan has to deal with 12 unions.

But that is not as much the problem as it is that this country is growing increasingly musical and it wants good music, adequately conducted and produced. It is not altogether understandable that New York city maintains with difficulty one symphony orchestra; does not support a ballet of note; and now permits the leading opera house in the world to be threatened with a shutdown, largely because of internal politics in the unions—12 of them.

Even worse is the city of Washington, which is musically aird. Washington has the only capital in the Western world without an opera, and I understand it, without a theatre next season. For years, it ran with only one theatre, which has declined to reopen because of a quarrel over the question of segregation.

Yet, when one sees America from the vantage point of Tanglewood, it is impossible not to recognize the hunger for music in this country. The other night I picked up a couple of boys coming away from the Pchakowsky concert. One was from Illinois; the other from Boston. Both were still students. We got into a discussion on the price of hot dogs, and the Illinois boy was an authority on the subject. He had made and sold them to pay his way through college. Yet he had come on to Tanglewood in Western Massachusetts for music. What seems to be needed is a rational approach to the cultural needs of this country. They are as important surely as subsidies to potato-growers, and may even attract as many voters.

That Body of Yours

MORE OLD FOLKS THAN OTHER FOLKS
When we think of the average life span and realize that it is now 68 years, that it may not be long before the average life span is three-score years and ten, we may wonder how this has come about.

In the nineties it began with saving the lives of children at birth and during the first year, then came the control of diphtheria and other diseases of children. Following came control of smallpox, typhoid fever, then pneumonia.

Today the physician's problem is not that of the young and middle-aged, but the elderly.

Today we are talking about the treatment of the elderly, as they outnumber any of the other age groups—infants and children, teen-agers, young and middle-aged adults. The specialty of treating the aged is known as geriatrics, just as the treatment of children's diseases is called pediatrics.

In discussing the common ailments found in the elderly, Dr. Walter S. McClellan, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in the "Journal of the American Medical Association" outlines treatment for (a) nervous and mental diseases, (b) heart and blood vessel diseases, and (c) rheumatic conditions.

For the melancholias that frequently occur in aging patients, especially after the change of life in men and women, the electric shock treatment is recommended, and old behavior due to hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure, heat in any form is recommended together with occupational therapy—mental and physical work. And for paralysis or partial paralysis, heat, "passive" exercise and massage is recommended.

For heart and high blood pressure conditions, there are two parts of the treatment. First, the program to be used at home—mild, "active" exercise and massage. Second, treatment at a spa, if this can be afforded, where the different kinds of bath treatment help to relax the mind and body.

For rheumatic conditions in the elderly, rest is the treatment at first, and then the three "physical" measures—heat, massage and exercise—complete the treatment.

Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis
Sufferers with chronic rheumatism and arthritis will find many helpful suggestions as to diet, heat, massage and other aids in Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis." To obtain it, just send 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. occurs to mind that the Soviet Union will have, upon the completion of this project, plenty of steel for the furtherance of a rearmament program.

NEW WONDER
Not all the earth's wonders have been discovered. From Churchill in Manitoba comes the tale of the discovery of a tropical island with rank foliage on the edge of the Arctic Circle. It is reported by flyers who had ventured into these forbidding wastes.
This recalls the exciting news of the discovery of ice-free lakes in the heart of the Antarctic Continent, about which more will be known when the expedition studying them returns. Perhaps the next new find will be a glacier in the Sahara Desert.

'Look, Mister! When I'm in There, I'm My Own Boss'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—Some of the cock-eyed inconsistencies of Washington officialdom are verily wondrous to behold.
Here is the latest beaut:
On Tuesday, President Truman made an address ardently pleading for public support of the National Employment of the Physically Handicapped Week, October 3-9. He pointed out two significant facts: (1) that industrial record shows conclusively that when given the opportunity to work, handicaps almost invariably prove above average in productivity, regularity and loyalty, and (2) that with the marked labor shortages existing in many fields, it is both good business and good humanity to give jobs to handicaps.

With deep feeling, Mr. Truman urged employers to give handicaps a chance to make themselves useful and self-supporting beings. The President's speech was moving, and a real credit to him.

Reverse Picture
Yet, at the same time the President was making this touching appeal to private employers, one of the biggest government employers was giving the cold shoulder to thousands of highly competent handicaps whom it had made.

This is the U. S. Army—of which the President, as Commander-in-Chief, is boss, and which is now moaning to the high heavens about a desperate shortage of officers to train the forthcoming draft levy.

The Army says it needs 37,000 additional officers for this purpose. To date, about 2,500 reserve officers have volunteered to return to active duty. The Army is talking of drafting officers to meet its urgent needs.

But at the same time that the Army is doing all this whining and blustering, it has on its rolls thousands of retired combat veterans who would make the finest type of training personnel. The officers were shelved because their battle-injured impairment do not square with the Army's high, and in some respects archaic, physical requirements for field duty.

But the Army's immediate need is not officers for rigorous field duty. It needs officers to train men for such duty. This untapped reservoir of battle-experienced veterans is a matchless source for such trainers. These men have been through the mill. Their knowledge and skill can't be bought for love or money. Their very disabilities give them an added value as an inspiration.

When Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was Chief of Staff, he saw that clearly. He put through an order allowing disabled non-commissioned officers to enlist for limited duty in the regular Army. The Navy today, has an admiralty on active duty who lost a foot in battle.

But the Army has always been innane and extravagant in personnel matters. Last Spring when Army brass were shrieking that they didn't have enough troops to man combat units, thousands of husky young soldiers were idling away their time doing wholly unnecessary sentry duty at posts in the U. S. They were just for show purposes, nothing more. There are hundreds of them doing this sort of thing right now in Washington.

Hot Rod
Vacationing in his home state, Oregon, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas was asked by the townfolk of Joseph to lead the parade of a rodeo they were staging. The boyish, tousled-haired jurist agreed. A frisky cayuse was saddled up for him to ride.
"What's his name?" Douglas asked.
"Cyclone."
"Has he bucked recently?"
"Not since the last parade," was the cheerful reply.

Exit Griswold
Dwight Griswold is quitting as U. S. aid administrator in Greece. The former Nebraska Governor is now packing in Athens to return to the U. S. early next month. Griswold is resigning to take part in the Republican election campaign. He hopes to land in the Dewey cabinet—if there is one. By dint of a combination of wheeling and booting, Griswold has effected some administrative reform in the graft-ridden and incompetent Greek government. Its budget still remains to be balanced, and its heavily padded payrolls still remain to be pared down. But a little progress has been made toward efficiency and honesty.

However, there was one particularly smelly deal that Griswold was unable to block—thanks to the State Department.
As part of the "Aid Greece" program, the State Department put through a sale of 300 Liberty ships to Greek shipowners. The contention was that these vessels would improve Greece's dollar position. Actually, it was a lush bonanza to a small group of wealthy, royalist Greeks who live in New York, and pay little taxes either in the U. S. or Greece.

Not only did the State Department sell the ships to the millionaire Greeks for less than one-third of the original cost to U. S. taxpayers, but the Department also threw in special purchasing to pay only 25 per cent down and given 17 years to pay the remainder.
And the debt-loaded Greek government had to guarantee the mortgages on these ships.
Shipping experts estimate the vessels are earning $1,000 a day each for their Greek owners. But all the Greek government gets from these juicy profits is a paltry $15,000 a year in taxes.

That's the way the State Department is "aiding the dollar position" of Greece.
Unimpressed
An unpublished exchange took place when Marshal Sokolovsky, Soviet Commander in Germany, was arrested for speeding by a U. S. constabulary trooper, that graphically illustrates the high quality of this crack outfit.
Sokolovsky was very miffed when flagged down. He haughtily attempted to brush the trooper aside. "I am Marshal Sokolovsky," he announced. The U. S. soldier was unimpressed.
"Maybe you are, and maybe you're not," he said, quietly but firmly. "You'll have to come to headquarters with me to prove it."

And that's exactly what the blustering Russian did.
M.G.R. Flashes
Medical and other leaders from all sections of the nation will attend the convention of the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped in Washington, August 20-22. Dynamo of the A.F.P.H. is Paul A. Strachan, one of the "fathers" of the National Employment of the Handicapped Week.
In the event of war, the P.E.H. within 24 hours, will take to custody more than 115,000 listed Communists and fellow travelers. This number is nearly twice the present card-carrying membership of the U. S. Communist party.
The Democratic National Committee is straining hard to enlist two well-heeled friends of the President as campaign fund-raisers. They are Assistant Secretary of Air Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and Russell Reynolds, head of the Reynolds Metals Corporation, that did a boom business during the war.

Points of Interest Will Be Made When Federal Grand Jury Testimony Is Divulged

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 19—President Truman has not told the American people all the truth about the circumstances surrounding the federal grand jury investigation of the Communist spy ring—and it will be interesting to learn whether Mr. Truman was simply misinformed about the facts through negligence on the part of subordinates or whether the episode was part of a political effort to avoid indicting employees of the administration.

Any explanation from the President is due. For it now has become known that Whittaker Chambers, self-confessed Communist agent, did not testify before the federal grand jury at all. This fact was first disclosed in the last 24 hours in a Washington dispatch to the New York Sun by David Snell. That same fact has now been verified by this correspondent from an entirely different and also unimpeachable source.

Mr. Truman gave the news correspondents on August 5th the following statement, which he allowed to be quoted:
"No information has been received that has not long since been presented to a federal grand jury."

But it turns out that the sensational story told by Whittaker Chambers to the House Committee on Un-American Activities was not given to the grand jury, although the Federal Bureau of Investigation had the information in ample time for the grand jury sessions.

A host of Democratic campaign speakers are echoing this statement also from President Truman on August 5th:
"No information has been disclosed in the past few days by the congressional committees that has not long been known to the F.B.I. The federal grand jury found this information insufficient to justify indictment of the federal employees involved."

The plain impression which the above statement seeks to convey is that the testimony of accusation brought before the congressional committees was in the hands of the federal grand jury in New York. Now it turns out that an important outline of Communist activity and of efforts at infiltration in the federal government was known to the F.B.I. and was available from Whittaker Chambers, senior editor of Time magazine, but was not given to the grand jury.

Congressional committees may seek to learn the reason by interrogating officials who were in charge of the prosecution. It is reported on good authority that the reason for failing to tell the grand jury about Chambers' confessions or to let him testify was because of a convenient technicality. For instance, that all the information derived from Chambers' testimony related to acts which occurred prior to the time any overt acts of disloyalty are alleged to have been committed by the federal employees. This means that the status of "initiators" who operated against introduction of evidence occurring more than three years before.

Certainly a grand jury, however, is entitled to all background information as to the character of the witnesses who do testify and all necessary data of a historical nature, no matter in what year it occurred, which could possibly throw light on the probity of witnesses. It is believed that Chambers' information could have been introduced as bearing on the veracity of other witnesses.

The incident, however, does illustrate how hard it is to get indictments under present espionage and conspiracy laws. There are plenty of technicalities of which Congress should be advised in order that it may strengthen present laws.

The very fact that the federal grand jury was not given all the information available to the F.B.I. and the fact that such information as was given did not result in indictments now has justified in every sense the exploration of the whole subject by the congressional committees. "Pitiless publicity" by congressional committees can be more effective in warning the nation against dangers to America's security than secret grand jury sessions from which essential evidence is withheld on technical reasons.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 18—The citizen who rejects unionism for honest reasons untinted with class hatred nevertheless finds himself loudly damned as an advocate of oppression and a paid stooge of the National Association of Manufacturers. He is also a Fascist, although unionism is an essential part of Fascism and all workers in Italy and Germany had to join the appropriate unions and conform to oppressive rules under a system which roughly duplicated the condition of American workers under Roosevelt during the 1930's.

It was born. All of the notorious criminals of the movie and building service unions, the heavy-construction unions and the liquor-trade unions of New York relied on two loud cries in round-up subjects and robbing workers and employers and generally imposing on the public. They were agents of "democracy" and all who fought them were either "Fascists" or "Communists." They were some of the vilest criminals unhung as the evidence finally showed.

The basic fact that American unionism is, of itself, a badness corrupting politics, government and the public morals and economy has been avoided by all but a few reckless arguers who defeated themselves by taking that extreme position. It is the correct position, to be sure, but it has been so very unpopular that even the most reasonable intellectuals were shocked by such a proposition and would not listen. By a persistent but not very clever propaganda, unionism and "collective bargaining" have been sold to almost the entire public as synonymous and almost sacred principles. Skipping the question whether unionism could be just and fair and moral, we come at once to the fact that it has been a corrupt force and the more corrupt as it gained strength and public prestige. Possibly it could have been a boon, but the fact is that it wasn't. It has been a curse, and we have to respect facts.

It should have been plain before the situation developed that if we ever gave to a few ambitious, rough-and-tumble union politicians the power that we have given to Senator Frank J. La Follette, the Teamsters' William L. Hutcheson, of the Carpenters, and John L. Lewis, of the Mine Workers, they would make politics within their unions to keep themselves in power. The truth did not develop, however, until the test was made. Now we find that Tobin has been president of the Teamsters for 41 years and has passed rules half a million Americans by a code of laws and discipline which forbid and punish conduct not forbidden by any public or moral law. He is actually clothed in majesty, a ludicrous old gasbag if you insist, but a tyrant of righteous furies and fond of anarchy. For 41 years he has ruled the Teamsters' front years, he has reached out and, in the manner of Hitler "liberating" his beloved minorities. Mr. Tobin has enfolded whole classes of workers having absolutely no connection with horse or motor transportation. They aren't consulted. They were anachronized, like Austria.

Hutcheson became president of the Carpenters in 1915, 33 years ago. And, like Tobin, who found princely, royal sinecures on the union payroll for his princely sons, Mr. Hutcheson provided that his own son should become the Crown Prince, with a constitutional provision directing that the royal scion should succeed him in the presidency.

This sort of thing has never occurred in any elective public office in our country. Even Roosevelt probably would not have turned out if he had lived and had stood for a fifth term this year.

Questions—Answers So They Say...

Q—Why does the Gothic style of architecture lend itself so perfectly to temples of worship?
A—Because its pointed arches and spires seem to point upward to God.

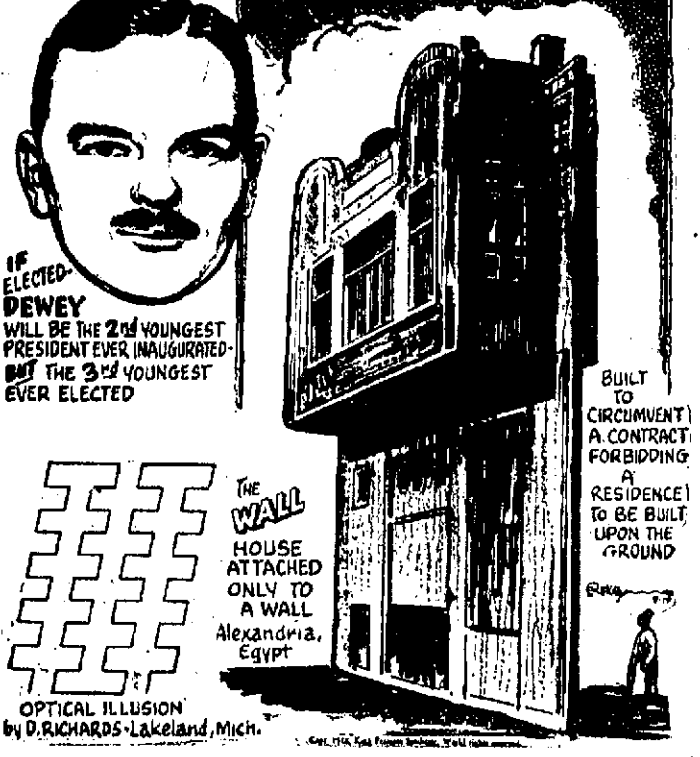

Q—What is the correct designation of our national legislature, Congress or the Congress?
A—In the Constitution, "the Congress" is always used.

Q—At the time of the first World War armistice, was General Pershing in favor of pushing on into Germany?
A—Yes. General Pershing stated that Germany was near collapse and her leaders not to be trusted and therefore we should take full advantage of the situation and continue our offensive until we compelled the unconditional surrender of Germany.

Q—Is there a pure race of people in the world today?
A—Anthropologists do not believe that any absolutely pure race exists.

Q—What kind of a drink is yerba mate?
A—It is an aromatic beverage prepared in South America from the leaves of the Paraguay Tea and has a stimulating effect on the drinker. The tree belongs to the holy family.

Will Have No Bats

Philadelphia, Aug. 19 (AP)—Minnie, the city hall cat, wants it plainly understood—they'll be no bats in her bailiwick. Minnie, who is currently engaged in raising a brood of five kittens, discovered a bat zooming up and down city hall corridors yesterday. Joined by her offspring, Minnie gave chase. Bat, cat and kits continued their merry race for about 20 minutes until finally the bat spotted an open window and took off for parts unknown.

The Flying Red Horse is Famous from Coast-to-Coast!

Socony-Vacuum is an independent company not affiliated with any Standard Oil Company operating in the U. S. A., and is in direct and vigorous competition with them!

Seventeen years ago, we were the Standard Oil Company of New York (Socony) and the Vacuum Oil Company. The trade name "socony" appeared on service stations, pumps, trucks, throughout New York and New England.

With the union in 1931 of SOCONY and VACUUM a far greater oil company emerged—united the famous products of both companies under the Flying Red Horse trade-mark—rapidly expanded from Coast-to-Coast.

Today, in order to eliminate any possible confusion in the public's mind with other users of the name "Standard", Socony-Vacuum has dropped the name from the few remaining products which have carried it.

The main point is this: Today the Flying Red Horse has outgrown its "Native Soconyland" and the name "Standard".

Today, our trade-mark stands for Socony-Vacuum—the Mobil line of Automotive Products, Mobilgas, Mobiloil, Mobilubes, Mobil Specialties, Mobil Tires, Mobil Batteries and Accessories—for Tavern Candles—for Mobil-heat and Mobil-flame—for Process Products and the world-famous line of Gargoyle Industrial and Marine Lubricants!

The Flying Red Horse is your guarantee of a leading petroleum product from a leader in the progressive petroleum industry!

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
Today's lesson hand is taken from Henry Brandt's article in the July issue of The Bridge World, entitled "Up With the Queen?" Although there is no "right way" to play every combination of cards, Mr. Brandt points out that some fundamental combinations are in most cases played according to a standard routine. I am combining two of

Mr. Brandt's combinations into today's article.
Many players are at a loss to know what to do when they have the queen and two small, or the queen and one small, opposite the king and two small or the ace and two small. In this hand Mr. Brandt points out that when West opens the six of spades, South must analyze his whole play before deciding whether or not to play dummy's queen. He has two tricks each in hearts and clubs and one in spades. He needs only four diamond tricks to fulfill the contract. He knows that the lead will be surrendered to West if the diamond finesse is off.

Since West probably is holding a long spade suit, the best way to block running that suit is to go up with dummy's queen of spades at trick one. If West has the ace of spades, the queen will hold the trick, the diamond finesse can be taken, and West is helpless. If he leads a small spade, South makes his king. If he leads the ace of spades he establishes the king for South.

Now let us say that North holds the diamond suit, with six to the ace-king, and South has three diamonds to the king. Should South go up with dummy's queen when the small spade is opened? Mr. Brandt says no. South in this case should play low from dummy, and if East puts on the jack or ten, he should play low from his own hand also. When East returns a spade, let it ride to the queen. If West wins with the ace, South still has the good king. His hope of course is to exhaust East of spades, so he will have none to lead when the diamond finesse is taken.

In this second situation East has only two spades, the ten and eight. If East held three spades, there would be no play that declarer could make that would win.

Commission Says Work Stoppage to Harm Atomic Plan

Washington, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today a work stoppage at its Los Alamos, N. M., project threatens "serious damage to the nation's atomic weapons program."

The statement was made in a telegram appealing to A.F.L. President William Greene to urge idle A.F.L. construction and maintenance workers to return to the job.

Acting Commission Chairman Sumner Pike told Greene: "It is our belief that an appropriate request from you will have the effect of bringing to conclusion this walk out so detrimental to the defense of the American people. Accordingly we urge that you exercise your influence to return these union members to work."

The union workers, employed by five project contractors, left their jobs because a sixth contractor hired non-union labor.

Pike advised Greene that more than 3,000 A.F.L. workers were idle yesterday in what union members have described as a "vacation." Pike estimated the number of non-union workers at "not more than 115" and said the contractor who employed them had no contract with the A.F.L. The telegram added: "To our knowledge no union officials have even attempted to utilize the orderly procedures provided by law to assist these 115 employees in gaining union recognition.

"The workers who walked out have been employed on maintenance and service operations at the atomic weapons center and also on construction of new and expanding facilities for the nation's atomic defenses. They are organized under the Building Trades Council of the A.F.L.

"This walk-out situation cannot continue for long without causing serious damage to the nation's atomic weapons program."

Far East Commies

By FRANK TRIPP

Maybe you'd like to read what a substantial Japanese thinks about the brand of democratization, as he calls it, that we are giving his country.

"Some are saying that Communists came with the arrival of American forces," he writes me from Japan.

"Japan had always suppressed Communism and arrested Communist leaders. But the Occupation Forces freed them all and permitted their activity. At once they started a nationwide campaign under the protection given, according to 'liberty' and 'democracy'.

"Most of Japan's social unrest is due to Communist agitation. Strikes and sabotage are frequent. Workers hold union meetings in working hours; production stops. Some hold meetings in plants all night, then demand overtime pay. Unions are controlled by Communist agitators in a large number of cases. The Communist problem is becoming more and more serious."

HE CITES Japan's long struggle against Russia; her victory of 1904; the "might have been unjustified imperialism and militarism" which annexed Korea and Manchuria to the now dissolved Japanese Empire, and set up the puppet state of Manchukuo nearly 30 years later.

Then he says, "If Manchukuo still existed and Korea was under our government, some Japanese are saying that Soviet Communism would never have gained so much power in the Far East. He adds: "Some are going to extreme of saying that it was Americans who first encouraged Communism in Japan. That is because of the liberty of propaganda and other activities granted to Communists upon the arrival of American forces."

"COMMUNISM WILL NEVER prosper in Japan because the Marxian principle fundamentally opposes the people's tradition and ideas. But if we are unable to put strong pressure upon them they are certain to cause much trouble."

"A large per cent of Koreans are Communists. They are now over half a million Koreans in Japan. They observe no law, pay no taxes, are at the bottom of many crimes. Recent rioting in Kobe, Osaka and other places is evidence of their lawlessness. "Why Japanese are wondering why the American authorities here do not take a strong hand against Communists, since the anti-Communist movement is rising in the United States."

MY CORRESPONDENT is a newspaperman and lived long in this country, but before Communism was a menace here. He cannot appreciate that many Americans also are wondering why we don't take a stronger hand against Communism on our own doorstep.

He hit upon the touchy point, that divides American liberty boosters into two groups—those overzealous to share our precious liberty, even with those who would destroy us, and those who believe that liberty is something to be enjoyed by those who have earned it.

It will be interesting, and probably catastrophic, to see what the "liberalized" and "democratized" Japanese finally do about their age-old feud with Russia and the Communist problem which now complicates it.

ONCE FREED of American occupation, disarmed, and self-governed, with Communists dominating Manchuria and by then perhaps in control of all of Korea, will my friend still be able to say that Communism will never prosper in Japan?

To resist the threat, Japan must arm again; rearm and fight as a free people, disillusioned that their emperor is a divine and supernatural being whose cause and will cannot fail.

Wouldn't it be strange if some day, which unhappily might not be too far off, Japan, rearm with our connivance and cooperation, became the bulwark against Communism's march to our West Coast?

And Nippon's sons fought beside ours to preserve the liberty which they have not yet tasted—and which we have defended for 172 years?

U. S. Throws Red 'Imperialism' Back

Washington, Aug. 19 (AP)—The United States borrowed one of Russia's favorite charges—"Imperialism"—and threw it right back at the Kremlin today.

The occasion was the State Department's official comment on the new Soviet-dictated Danube river agreement.

That document was signed at Belgrade yesterday by Russia and the Soviet satellites. It reserves full control of the waterway to the Danubian states. The western powers—repeatedly rebuffed in their efforts to open the river to vessels of all nations—refused to sign.

Lashing out at "Soviet manipulation of the six votes of its puppet states," the State Department declared: "The unhappy subservience of the Danubian peoples to Soviet Imperialism was never more clearly manifest than at this conference."

One of Moscow's loudest complaints against the European Recovery Program was that it represented another example of American "Imperialism." Last night's statement was the first time this government has hurled that same charge back at the Soviets.

The United States served notice that it "of course" will refuse to recognize the new river controls and so will those parts of Austria and Germany under American control.

The 11-nation Belgrade conference was called to put into effect a big four declaration written into the satellite peace treaties pledging freedom of navigation on the vital waterway. The Soviet bloc held a 7 to 4 edge, however, over the United States, Britain, France and Austria.

Butcher Joins Drive
Philadelphia, Aug. 19 (AP)—The butcher has joined the housewife in a fight to bring down the price of meat. About 15 West Philadelphia shops have signs in their windows announcing their cooperation with a housewives three-day buyer strike starting today. The signs read: "This store will sell no meat on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in support of a meat strike against high prices." Cooperation of the butchers was obtained by more than 5,000 housewives who canvassed the neighborhood and circulated petitions.

The province of Ontario, Canada, has an area of more than 412,000 square miles.

Former Kingston
Teacher Is Dead

Edith W. Scott, former Kingston High School teacher, who died Wednesday in West Orange, N. J., her home for the past six years, will be buried in Wiltwyck Cemetery, here, Saturday, following services at 2 p. m. in St. John's Episcopal Church, Albany avenue.

Besides teaching in Kingston, Miss Scott was on the faculty of schools in Nyack, N. Y., Trenton and Newark, N. J., in the latter city serving in Madison Junior High School and West Side High School.

Miss Scott was a member of the College Women's Club of Essex county, president of the High School Women's Club, a member of the School Women's Club and was active in the Newark Teachers' Association. She was a member of St. Mark's Church in West Orange.

She earned her B.A. degree from State Teachers' College, Albany, and her M.A. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Surviving are a brother, Captain David A. Scott of San Francisco, Calif., retired from the U. S. Navy and a sister, Alice H. Scott, a teacher in Mount Vernon, N. Y. For the past six years during her residence in West Orange, she lived with Miss Carolyn E. Arnold, formerly of Chester street, Kingston.

Her parents were James and Alice W. Chipp Scott of Kingston. Funeral services in East Orange will be held at the Colonial Home, 132 S. Harrison street, Friday at 3 p. m., and then the body will be removed to Kingston for the Saturday afternoon services at 2 o'clock in St. John's Church.

Will Leave Ireland

Dublin, Aug. 19 (AP)—Eire Prime Minister John A. Costello and his wife will sail from Cobh on the Mauretania Saturday for New York, en route to Canada. They will be guests of the Canadian Bar Association and the Canadian government. The Costellos plan to spend two days in New York before proceeding to Ottawa.

Mayor, Police Bid Farewell to Boys

Here the three happy youngsters (l. to r.) Lewis Davis, 44 Boulder avenue; James Van Buren, 105 Cedar street and Norwood Humphrey, 9 East Pierpoint street, bound for Loyaltown, boys' camp at Hunter, where they will spend three weeks. Bidding them farewell and a happy vacation are Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Officer Walter Van Steenburgh, secretary of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association; Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren; Officer Kenneth Hyatt, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association and Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, director of the Kingston Boys' Club who helped choose the three youngsters from his organization entitled to go to Loyaltown. Their expenses will be paid by contributions from the Patrolmen's Association and generous Kingston business men solicited by Acting Police Captain William T. Roedel, one of the directors of Camp Loyaltown, the president of which is Nat M. Abramson of WOR Entertainment Bureau. Captain Roedel and Mayor Newkirk recently attended the dedication of the new camp which is considered one of the most modern in the state, with all facilities for health and character building. Buzzanco Is Charged

With Rent Violation

New York, Aug. 19 (Special)—Tighe E. Woods, federal housing expediter, filed suit in United States District Court here Wednesday, charging Andy Buzzanco with having violated the rent ceiling laws in connection with an apartment he leased to Frances Tome at 87 Abel street, Kingston.

According to the complaint, Buzzanco charged her $45 a month for a second-floor apartment on which the maximum rental permissible under law is $25. The alleged overcharges, totaling $160, took place, says Woods, from October 1, 1947, to May 31, 1948.

The expediter seeks a court order requiring Buzzanco to refund her the $160, and an injunction prohibiting him from future violations.

not working, and pointed out that they have been negotiating with the brick manufacturers since June 15 without reaching satisfactory settlement. He said that the contract under which the men are working expired on August 15 and has not been renewed.

Costa said that the union members at a mass meeting held August 10 voted 300 to 1 against accepting the proposals of the manufacturers. Another negotiation meeting is scheduled for 3 p. m., today, he said, adding that the union hopes to have the new contract terms completed today.

Oil Shortage Possible

Washington, Aug. 19 (AP)—President Truman expressed doubt today whether an east coast oil shortage can be averted this winter. He was told at a news conference that representatives of the oil industry had expressed the view that there would be no shortage. Mr. Truman replied he sincerely hoped the oil industry was right, but he doubted it. He said it depends on how severe the next winter is.

Dr. Pennoyer told newsmen: "I am very much worried about the possible lack of information the Russian consul may be getting. I am making this offer from a humanitarian viewpoint."

Vice Consul Zot I. Chepurnykh said last night that Lomakin was arranging to send "one, two, maybe three American doctors."

Obviously angry, the vice consul pointed to his watch and told newsmen:

"Now they send the invitation to see her. After 7 o'clock. This is what we've been trying to do ever since Kosenkina was taken to the hospital."

The vice consul has contended that police statements that Mrs. Kosenkina did not want to see Soviet representatives were "pure fabrication." Before the invitation to the consul to send a doctor, Chepurnykh said yesterday that his superior would make a new demand on police to visit Mrs. Kosenkina. Police said it was up to hospital officials.

The Hutton Company, the union turned down a management offer of a wage increase of $1 per day plus hospitalization and insurance. This increase would bring the minimum hourly wage to $12.75 and the maximum to about $22, Hutton said. None of the workers at The Hutton Company are receiving the minimum and the actual lowest wage paid under this offer would be $13.75 an hour, he said. In addition, Hutton pointed out, the men are working six days a week, making total weekly salaries ranging from about $68 to $125.

Plane Returns to Base

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—Engine trouble last night forced an Air France plane, bearing 27 passengers, to return to LaGuardia Field after it had left on a transatlantic flight. Among the passengers was State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, who was en route to Italy. Airline officials said the plane developed engine trouble after it had made a stop at Boston and headed out to sea. The passengers were scheduled to on another flight today. Corsi is chairman of the American delegation for ceremonies dedicating a hospital in Foggia, Italy, to New York's late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia.

Ferry to Operate Extra Hours for Rhinebeck Fair

The Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry will operate until 11 p. m. from August 31 to September 4 to provide transportation across the Hudson for Orange, Ulster and Greene county residents wishing to attend the Dutchess County Fair, the Mid-Hudson Bridge Authority made known today.

Dutchess fair officials, at Rhinebeck where the five-day fair will be held, have made arrangements with the Knapp Bus Company to meet all ferries and to provide transportation at reasonable rates between the ferry and fairgrounds.

In years past hundreds of Ulster and Greene county harness racing fans have had to make the long trip via Poughkeepsie to witness the Dutchess fair harness races.

Harness racing this year will be one of the outstanding features of the Dutchess fair. Nine stake races, each with a $500 purse, have been carded, five for Wednesday, September 1, and four for Thursday, September 2.

Races scheduled for Wednesday are the Springbrook free for all trot and pace, the 2:16 pace, the 2:24 trot, the 2:16 trot and the two-year-old trot, which, incidentally, was won last year by Demon Hanover, this year's Hambletonian champion.

Thursday's races, also scheduled to start at 2 p. m. are the 2:30 trot and pace, the 2:22 trot and pace, the 2:24 pace and the free for all trot and pace.

Frank Cookingham, race secretary, has obtained several outstanding horses from the Saratoga Raceway, which closes the Saturday before the Dutchess fair opens as well as speedy entries from Roosevelt Raceway, Old Westbury, L. I., and Bethel, Conn. Harrison Hoyt, owner and driver of Demon Hanover, will be back at Rhinebeck with a promising two-year-old, attempting to duplicate the triumph the Demon turned in last year. Other Dutchess fair features include a two-day horse show, pony show, rodeo, cattle shows, baby beef club show, the King Reld carnival and many others.

CONNELLY

Connelly, Aug. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mullen and sons and Mrs. Carrie Mullen and aunt of Kingston were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Wesley on Sunday.

A rummage sale is being held at 557 Broadway, Kingston, until Friday from 5 to 5 p. m. by Hasbrouck Engine Company Auxiliary. Proceeds will go to veterans at Castle Point.

Mrs. Silverblatt and family of Florida and New York are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stengel.

Tuesday afternoon a blast by the stone crusher caused many houses in the village to shake and canned goods to fall from shelves in the Connelly Market.

A few of the streets in the village have been improved by a dressing of tar and gravel.

Barbara Brennan of Kingston is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bigler of Second street.

Miss Bea Star Braden of New York is visiting her mother, Mrs. P. Laicher.

Stresses World Government Is Solution Needed

Woodstock, Aug. 19—John C. Holt, 2nd, New York state field director, addressed over one hundred Woodstockers on Tuesday evening in the Dutch Reformed Church Hall for the purpose of acquainting them with the purposes and aims of his organization, the United World Federalists.

To indicate the extreme seriousness of the world situation, the meeting was opened with a brief prayer by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd.

In his talk, Holt asserted that in spite of many experiments only government had ever prevented war in the past, that civil wars had been infinitesimal compared to those between nations. He emphasized the differences between a league and a government. "A league," he said, "deals with nations while government deals with individuals. Government is controlled by law and backed by an unchallengeable force." For those who believe it impossible to attain world government, the speaker reminded them that the founding fathers of the United States had felt very much the same about their undertaking but believed that the attempt must be made, and continuing with this thought, Holt quoted from a speech by George Washington made during the constitutional convention in 1789. "It is too probable that nothing that we propose will be accepted. Perhaps another dreadful conflict is to be sustained. If to please the people, we offer what we do not ourselves approve, how afterwards can we defend our work. . . let us raise a standard to which the wise and the honest can repair. The event is in the hands of God."

When attention was directed to the possibility of a world government excluding Russia, Holt reminded his listeners that only nine of the 13 states were in the original confederation. In his opinion, Russia would eventually come into such a government.

Great interest in the organizing of a Woodstock chapter of the United World Federalists was shown by those present. Membership blanks and literature were distributed and Konard Cramer who presided at the meeting announced that a meeting for organization and election purposes would be called in the near future. At last night's meeting Mrs. Hans Cohn was acting treasurer. Aileen Kramer and Louise Brokenshaw distributed the membership blanks and Peter Carlson took charge of the literature.

Before the meeting was adjourned, Holt suggested that the chapter should have as little red tape as possible because it was more important to devote time to spreading their ideals as quickly as possible so that those in Congress would know what is meant by world government and that "we want it now."

Primary Day

Woodstock, Aug. 19—The nominations of the conventions will be confirmed by all parties on Primary Day, Tuesday, August 24, at the town clerk's office in Woodstock.

The caucus for enrolled Republicans will be held in the Town Hall on September 2, at which time nominations will be in order for councilman.

Ham Fisher, Treacher

To Aid With Program

Woodstock, Aug. 19—Wilma Hervey has announced additional replacements for the Artists-Writers softball game which will be played on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on Recreation Field diamond for the benefit of the Memorial Association and Recreation Center. Ham Fisher will be on hand to assist with the festivities and Arthur Treacher will take over as umpire. The Calico Ranch Ramblers will be on hand to furnish plenty of music and cowboy songs before and during the games.

The Woodstock Juniors will play an unnamed team following the Artists-Writers contest.

A pre-game rally will be held at the Sea Horse on Friday afternoon beginning at 5 o'clock, according to Bill Tuck who with Adrian Segal will be busy photographing various highlights of the games. The rally, said Tuck, will be sponsored by Calico Ranch and Dick Stillwell of the Sea Horse.

Roentgen Composition To Be Played Tonight

Woodstock, Aug. 19—A dramatic composition for piano and cello by Engelbert Roentgen will be heard at the regular weekly concert of the Woodstock String Quartet this evening, in the Methodist Church Hall. The composition is dedicated to his wife and was written following his service in the U. S. Army during World War I.

The program will also include a Tchaikowski trio, Haydn composition for piano to be played by Joseph Wolman and compositions by Brahms.

ACCORD

Accord, Aug. 19—Methodist Church, the Rev. B. C. Schmidt, pastor—Worship service at 9:45 a. m. Sunday school at 9:15 a. m.

The trustees of Accord School District have asked that all children who are to begin school in the fall report to the health clinic room on Tuesday, Sept. 7 at 9 a. m. Each child must present a birth certificate.

Elmer Miller, a former local resident, is ill at a hospital in Casing, but is reported as improving.

Mrs. John Miller attended a tri-county meeting of the New York State Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters held at Unadilla Hotel in Unadilla on Saturday evening. A baked ham dinner was served at 7 o'clock, followed by a business session.

The ninth annual firemen's carnival of the Accord Fire Company is being held on the main street and is scheduled to close Saturday night. Music is furnished by Clayton's Military Band. Lots of fun.

Firemen Ask Training Course

Rome, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—The State Firemen's Association wants New York to set up a training course for fire fighters.

A resolution, adopted yesterday at the closing session of the 76th annual convention, called upon Governor Dewey, the New York State University Board and the State Education Department to establish a course similar to those operated in Oklahoma, California and Indiana.

Another resolution condemned Communism and urged members to do everything possible to combat un-American activities.

Iron Falls, Kills Man

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—A 15-pound electric pressing iron slipped from the hands of a Manhattan garment firm workman yesterday, fell out of an eighth-floor window and killed Isidore Landau, 54, of Brooklyn, who was walking below.

Base Plans Ready

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—Only the details remain to be worked out in the plans for joint U. S. and Canadian military bases, the Canadian minister of defense reports. Brooke Claxton said at a news conference yesterday the general plans for the bases already have been settled satisfactorily. The details, he said, are up to experts from the two countries.

Soviets Have Rich Crops

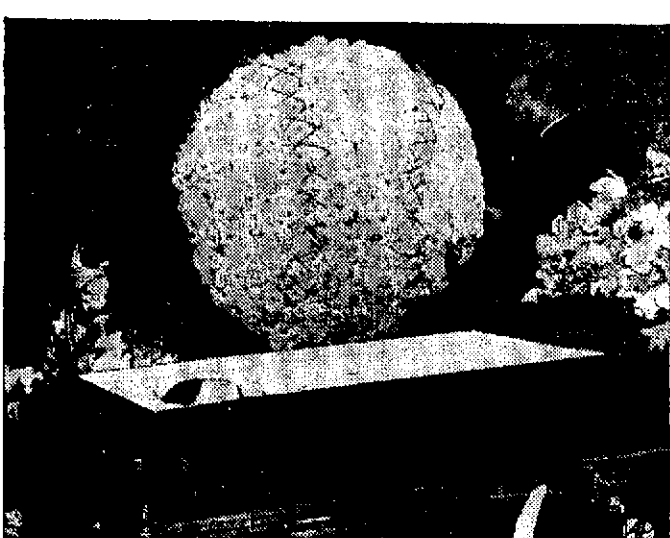

Moscow, Aug. 19 (AP)—A rich Soviet grain harvest is rolling into state granaries. Four important districts in the Kuban, and Ukraine reported to Prime Minister Stalin they had exceeded their goals for grain deliveries to date. Indications were that this year's harvest would exceed even the abundant returns of last year.

Cost Him $1.50

Shawnee, O., Aug. 19 (AP)—Dwight Bowen, 18, isn't so sure today it pays to be a good Samaritan. The effort cost him $1.50 yesterday, here's how: He saw a large dog seize a prize game rooster belonging to Dr. George Myers, a dentist-neighbor. Bowen threw a stone at the dog. The stone hit the dog, who dropped the rooster. The stone ricocheted from the dog's back and hit a window of Woodrow Thomas' residence nearby. Bowen paid $1.50 to replace the window pane.

Fire Loss Is Heavy

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—Fires destroyed $50,995,000 worth of property throughout the nation during July to bring the year's total to $437,435,000, a new record for the period and more than losses for the entire year of 1944.

FLORAL TRIBUTE FROM THE YANKEES

A floral piece, in the shape of a huge baseball, is placed next to Babe Ruth's casket in rotunda of Yankee Stadium, New York city. The piece was sent by members of the New York Yankees to honor the man who once was the brightest star of the team.

Final Rites Held

Boston, where the Babe began his big league career with the Red Sox; and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, where Ruth got his first feel of a baseball mitt.

Mrs. Joseph F. Flannely was celebrant of the high Mass for the great Yankees batter who died of cancer Monday night in Memorial Hospital at the age of 53.

The Babe's widow, Mrs. Claire Ruth, their two adopted daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Sullivan and Mrs. Richard Flannery, and the Babe's sister, Mrs. Wilbur Moberly, arrived early at the Cathedral. The list of those who filed up the wide grey steps of the Cathedral read like the headlines of the sports pages—today's as well as yesterday's: Jack Dempsey and Connie Mack; Leo Durocher and Moe Berg.

As great as the tribute of the famous was the grave silence of those who waited mutely outside the Cathedral and on the route taken by the hearse from the funeral chapel to the Cathedral.

The usually noisy canyons of midtown Manhattan were hushed as the Babe's body was borne behind mounted police from the Lexington avenue funeral home.

The tangle of traffic grew still, thousands looked silently down from skyscraper windows and rooftops as the measured clapping of policemen's horses echoed in the streets.

Mrs. Flannely and his assistants went to the main entrance of the cathedral to meet the casket as it was borne from the hearse.

Those who could not press into the cathedral waited outside to see the Babe's funeral cortege move to Gate of Heaven Cemetery in suburban Westchester county where his body will be placed in a receiving vault.

The thousands who jammed the streets marked the climax of three days of mourning and tributes to the Babe.

More than 100,000 persons filed past his body as it lay in state in the lobby of Yankee Stadium for two days. Mrs. Ruth had requested it, mindful of what the Babe meant to the public who never forgot him.

Young and old, rich and poor, they came from hundreds of miles to look on his face for the last time.

omatic stalemate between Moscow and Washington.

Marshall did not specify in what respects the United States is seriously concerned over the Russian charges. But some officials here are known to take the view that the Soviets have acted in a wholly irresponsible manner in trying to depict this country as a place where the government itself conspires with anti-Communist groups to kidnap and confine Russian citizens.

Must Note All Facts

The situation apparently poses one of the problems which the United States must attack in its note; that is, to bring forth all the facts possible to bolster its argument that Mrs. Kosenkina and the Samarin's deliberately chose to stay in this country when their ship sailed for Russia July 31—and that far from being here under duress they are refugees from a government they fear.

In addition to the general protest about alleged kidnappings and the repeated demands that the United States should turn over the school teachers to Soviet authorities, the four Russian notes presented on the case in the past two weeks made several other claims.

They argued that (a) after Mrs. Kosenkina had jumped from the window, critically injuring herself, American police entered her room at the consulate in violation of international law; (b) that a New York Supreme Court writ futilely ordering Consul General Yakov M. Lomakin to produce Mrs. Kosenkina in court violated the rights of the consul to immunity from court action; and (c) that the refusal of American authorities to allow a Soviet guard in her hospital room and to allow her removal to some other place was a violation of her rights.

These and other points appeared likely to be covered along with the main issues in the American note. Marshall has laid down the general rule that while Soviet and American laws differ in such cases as these, American law will prevail without exception in the United States.

Caught in Pickets

Boston, Aug. 19 (AP)—For a while life looked sweet on the other side of the fence to six-year-old Genevieve Dominick. So she stuck her head between the iron bars of a playground fence yesterday to get a lollipop offered her by an admirer on the outside.

Genevieve got her lollipop—and licked it, too—while two firemen picked the pickets apart with a crowbar to set her free.

ington before and during the war. They are concentrating instead on what Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) calls "spadework" designed to help dig up "the truth or the falsity" of the controversy involving Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers.

This is a prelude to public hearings, set for next Wednesday, at which Hiss and Chambers will be heard.

Arriving here by train from New York, where he put in some spadework himself, Nixon told reporters late yesterday that three former government officials have been put under subpoena. He said they are New Yorkers who will be brought here for questioning before the end of the week.

He said they are people who are "supposed to know" both Hiss and Chambers.

Hiss and Chambers are two key figures in the hearings the House Un-American Activities Committee has been holding.

Chambers now is an editor of Time magazine. He has testified that he was a Communist from 1924 to 1937 and during part of that period knew Hiss as a member of an "elite" Communist underground organization among government officials.

Arrest Sickler For Having Gun

In city court today, Robert Sickler, 23, of 43 Lawrence street, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of carrying and having in his possession a six-shot revolver without having a permit to carry a gun. He was represented by Chris J. Flanagan, Special City Judge Francis Martocci, who noted that there were certain "extenuating circumstances," ordered the youth released on $100 cash bail for hearing August 26.

Sickler was arrested on East Street near the S. & C. Lunch at 11:20 p. m. Wednesday by Special Patrolman Thomas Lawler and Patrolmen Walter Van Steenburgh and Charles Hoehing.

Highlights at Ulster County Fair of 1948

It was the annual Ulster County Fair and Farmer's Field Day at Forsyth Park Wednesday and here is some of the activity that took place during the busy one-day schedule of events. In the top photo, upper left, Ernest Myers, principal of the Hurley school, was one of the first arrivals with his exhibit of chickens. Home products are shown in the upper right photo in the Rosendale Grange display. In

Beck Buys Two 4-H Club Aberdeen Angus Baby Beef

Two 4-H Club Aberdeen Angus baby beef, one weighing about 970 and the other about 850 pounds were sold at auction to Hurry Beck of Beck's Broadway Market at the Ulster County Fair and Farmer's Field Day Wednesday.

The animals went at 51 cents a pound, a price, which according to Edmund R. Bower, county 4-H Club agent, is "a great deal more than they could have been bought for in Chicago."

Both were owned by Charles Relyen, Jr., of Hurley, who is now in the army in Texas, and one was originally from the Cannon Farm at Woodstock. In the words of the 4-H Club agent, they "had been fed and fitted to the peak of perfection, and no one questions the wonderful condition they were in."

Sweet and Keyser, were the auctioneers, and a contest in the bidding developed between Beck and J. H. McCabe, of C.Y.'s Dinner. This fact, said the agent, "added a lot of support and help to the future 4-H Club baby beef members."

The animals were shown by Eddie Canline of Hurley.

Kingston Host to Rotary Clubs in Hudson Valley

The Kingston Rotary Club was host at a day at golf at the Tvaafiskill Club on Wednesday. All of the clubs in the Hudson valley from Albany to Nyack were represented.

Following the golf matches in the afternoon a delicious steak dinner was served.

Byron Chatham presided in the absence of President Burton Davis and welcomed the members of the guest clubs. The long list of prizes was awarded the winners and they included an appropriate monument. This presentation was made by James Byrne, Larry Bogert presided at the prize table.

Frederick J. K. Ertel, who was the general chairman of the committee on arrangements, thanked all those members and friends who contributed prizes or who in any way helped in making the affair an outstanding success.

Chicks Die in Fire

About 100 chicks perished when fire destroyed the chicken house owned by Mrs. Bertha Gosselin of 15 DeWitt street at 9:40 a. m. today, the fire department reported.

Two pieces of the apparatus responded to a telephone alarm, but found the shed totally destroyed on arrival. Department officials listed the probable cause of the fire as a defective brooder.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—Security traders yawned their way through another slow stock market session today while prices barely stirred from previous closing levels.

Gains and losses were in fairly close balance. Fractional changes were the rule.

The news was again no stimulant to broader market action, brokerage concerns reported. The financial district seemed to be awaiting reports on the outcome of the four-power meetings at Moscow before reappraising the over-all picture.

Higher prices were paid for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, Chrysler, Woolworth, United Aircraft, Consolidated Natural Gas, John-Manville, Sant Fe, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Paramount Pictures.

On the losing side were U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Schenley, American Smelting, Philip Morris, U. S. Gypsum, Northern Pacific, and Gulf Oil.

U. S. government bonds held steady in the over-the-counter market. Among listed corporates, New Haven and Missouri Pacific lines did fairly well.

Ahead in the curb were Babcock & Wilcox, Cities Service, and McWilliams Dredging. Crole Petroleum slipped.

Firemen Injured At House Blaze

Two volunteer firemen were injured in fighting a fire which destroyed the home of Kenneth Duncan in the town of Shawangunk near Wallkill about 9 p. m. Wednesday, Chief Hanford Youngs of the Pine Bush Fire Company reported. Damage to the house, which contained a large number of antiques, will be between $10,000 and $15,000, Chief Youngs estimated.

The injured, who were struck by rocks falling from the walls of the home, were Arnold Gillis and Wallace Westerfield, Jr., both of Pine Bush and members of the fire company. The fire chief said Gillis received a gash on the head which required application of sutures, while Westerfield received bruises. Neither man was hospitalized.

The house is located in the mountains at some distance from the highways, and the fire department was delayed in arriving at the scene by automobiles which had been parked along the dead-end road leading to the house by motorists who stopped to witness the fire, Chief Youngs said.

Local Death Record

Salvatore Rienzo died today in Kingston. Surviving are his wife, Angeline Frangello Rienzo; a daughter, Shirley Rienzo; a brother, Chris Rienzo; and four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Perry, Mrs. Nicholas Lemister, Miss Jennie Rienzo and Mrs. Charles Marshall, all of Kingston. The funeral will be held Monday at 9:15 a. m. from the M. A. Galletta Funeral Home, 650 Delaware avenue, and at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's Church where a solemn requiem high Mass will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Funeral services for Charles G. Marks were held Wednesday afternoon from the late residence, 67 Brewster street. The Rev. Frank L. Golinick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, officiated. During the time the body rested at the home many friends and neighbors called to pay their last respects. The casket was banked with many flowers, a silent tribute to the deceased. Burial will be in the family plot in Montross Cemetery. The bearers were William Albert and Harry Marks, brothers of the deceased, Charles Marks a nephew, and Lee Gregory, brother-in-law.

The funeral of Miss Catherine A. Mullen who died Monday in New York city was held today at 9 a. m. from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home, 111 West Chester street, and at 9:30 a. m. at the Church of the Holy Name where a Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Joseph J. O'Rourke. Wednesday evening Father O'Rourke called at the funeral home and together with those assembled led in the recitation of the Rosary. Burial took place in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father O'Rourke pronounced the final absolution at the grave. Bearers were John J. McManus, Edward J. Ryan, George M. Cragan and Vincent F. Fallon.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many relatives, neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness and sympathy expressed us and for the many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets during the recent illness and death of our son and brother, Gerald Longendyke.

As Pegler Sees It

Not even Roosevelt, with all his gall, dared push the opposition around as these old bullies did. Lewis has been president of the Mine Workers ever since 1919, or 29 years, and today is more powerful than ever, with two-thirds of the elective voting strength of his union in his own hands. That is a dictatorship but a dictatorship of this bad unionism. It gives this one headstrong, often brutal and lawless man power over not only his own half-million subjects but power over most of the industry of the whole country. It is the power to strangle our economy in a few weeks and persecute millions by denial of fuel in winter.

There may be some question whether Lewis can do this as conveniently now as he could before we adopted the Taft-Hartley Law. But it must be remembered that President Truman vetoed that law the first time and now stands for election on a pledge to repeal it and thus restore to Lewis unimpaired the frightening might conferred on him by a careless, listless, uncomprehending people and by legislators who were bidding for the support of union bosses. This sidelong slide from free, popular government into dictatorship under a few men occurred while the people were cheering for "labor's" gains. People in the mass don't read the fine print in such subtle developments. They suddenly just find themselves in a fix.

The Taft-Hartley Law is very complex. Few but lawyers have read it and not all lawyers agree on its meanings. But even granting that it means that Lewis can't strike the whole coal production except under penalty, what of it? Would the penalty of an indefinite term in a luxurious cell with a library and his own cooks and servants intimidate him? Is the benefit of high wages to a few workers in the coal mines compensation to the rest of the nation for this exposure to absolute disaster at the whim of any one man? Did the American people ever contemplate the possibility in their careless, general approval of unionism?

There are some unionists, David Dubinsky, for one, who truly believe that they are great benefactors of their subjects. Dubinsky would be justified in resenting any statement that he is a corrupt man in one narrow and vulgar sense of that word. But corruption of government and the ideals of this government, which respect the God-given personality of human beings, occurs on every hand in unionism and I think it comes mainly from the Europeans in strong positions. Dubinsky is an immigrant with lingering traditions from his old background. He thinks he is doing a great, good work in providing material benefactions for his people and schools to teach them certain things. But there unionism ceases to be a mere wage-agent for the worker and becomes a state by itself under the protection and patronage of the public government.

Yes, it serves the subject as Hitler promoted strength through joy. But it also demands obedience and crowds him with corruption in his politics. And who decides what the subject shall be taught in the union's schools? Would Dubinsky, or any such paternalist with the interests of his subjects at heart, permit them to be taught anything bad for them or for the union? The great expansion of the activities and purposes of unionism has been at once the most attractive and seductive development and its most ominous. It has claimed more authority than government. The great bosses are still scheming toward a day when they or some few of them will "elect" and control a President and Congress and will rule the people unofficially according to the brutal authoritarianism inherent in almost all union constitutions.

They can be stopped, but first the people must get rid of the superstition that, for all its faults, unionism is good. It is bad. It is a corruption that will be fatal if it is not stopped. (Copyright, 1948, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Returning at Screen
 Hollywood, Aug. 10 (AP)—Actress Greta Garbo is returning to the screen after a seven-year absence. Producer Walter Wanger said she had signed a contract to star in a picture he will make in Europe next spring, the principal scenes to be filmed in Paris and Rome. He didn't announce the title of the film.

Summer Comfort

"Beating the heat"—keeping as cool and comfortable as possible during those hot, humid days of midsummer known as "dog days"—can be fairly easy when we follow a few, common-sense rules. Except for the short vacation period, most of us have to keep working during the hottest days. We can't just wilt and wait for more comfortable weather. Complaining about the heat and allowing it to drain us of our energy only makes the situation worse.

We know from experience that these "dog days" are bound to come with every summer, so the best thing to do is to accept them, adapt clothing and diet to the hot spell, and be sensible about exercising and other physical activities.

Light, loose clothing is best for hot summer days. The body makes an effort to keep its temperature normal by throwing off perspiration on the surface of the skin. Heavy, tight clothing hinders this natural function and prevents the perspiration from evaporating and thereby cooling the skin.

Most people feel better in hot weather when they cut down on heavy foods. Rich, heavy meals produce large numbers of calories and make a person feel hotter. Vegetables and especially fruits, which are rich in vitamins, minerals and water content, and are plentiful in summer, but are low in calories, should be stressed in planning a "hot weather diet."

Since the body perspires more in summer, we should drink enough liquids to replace the water thrown off during the process of the body's cooling system. The liquids may be water, fruit juices, milk or other non-alcoholic beverages.

A great deal of salt, an important part of the body's chemical makeup, is also lost in this excessive perspiration. This, too, must be replaced, and it can be done by adding extra table salt to the diet.

Exercising or playing strenuous games during the hottest part of the day not only results in discomfort but frequently brings on heatstroke or sunstroke. Exercise should be adapted to the weather as well as to the individual's strength and condition of health. Frequent baths in summer, and especially during a heat wave, cleanses the skin of the extra

Male Killer Whale

The male killer whale has a similar-shaped dorsal fin six feet high and as the beast swims, just at the surface, the waving fin looks like the neck of a serpent. This is responsible for most of the sensational sea-serpent stories.

Woman Says $20,000 Spent on Her Brothel

Reno, Nev., Aug. 19 (AP)—Mae Cunningham says she spent $20,000 on her house of prostitution, and she doesn't want Washoe county to put her out of business.

Contending she would suffer "irreparable loss and injury" if forced to close, she obtained a temporary court order yesterday requiring the county to leave her alone. Hearing was scheduled on the order today.

District Attorney Harold Taber had planned to file an action to close Mae's house on Commercial Row. The house, known as the Willows or The Cottage, is still legal in Reno, which permits brothels if they are more than 250 feet from a public street or alley.

The city council earlier indicated it would outlaw prostitution at a meeting Monday night. But Mae's attorney, Emerson Wilson, said he would present a petition asking a special election for continuance of prostitution under stringent controls.

EAT WELL for Less

KIDDIES' CHERISH CANDY CAKE

For her birthday party—soft drinks and peppermint-frosted chocolate cake.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Staff Writer

For the youngster's birthday in August, cool off the day with a peppermint stick birthday cake, which has decided small-fry appeal. But serve other things children really love, too—such as frankfurters parboiled and then delicately broiled, served in crisp hot buttered rolls. (Wrap each in a gay paper napkin.) And include bottled soft drinks, cooled and opened for each small guest by Mother, and ice cream served in cones. Then, no matter how torrid the day, the young celebrants will be happy, well-fed and cool.

Real Chocolate Layers

Three cups sifted cake flour, 3/4 teaspoon cream of tartar, baking powder, 2 cups sugar, 3/4 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 3 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1 1/2 cups evaporated milk, undiluted, 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla, 3 eggs, unbent.

Turn oven on—"set" for moderate temperature (350 degrees F.). Grease 3 nine-inch round layer cake pans; dust lightly with flour. Have shortening at room temperature. Sift all together into bowl: the sifted flour, cream of tartar, baking powder, sugar, soda and salt. Drop in the shortening, melted chocolate, about 1 1/2 cups of the milk, and the vanilla. Beat about 1 1/2 minutes (150 strokes). Scrape bowl and spoon often throughout entire mixing. Add eggs; beat 2 1/2 minutes. Add remaining milk; beat 1/2 minute. Bake in moderate oven, 25 to 35 minutes. Cool and put together with peppermint frosting.

Peppermint Frosting
One pound peppermint sticks, 3 egg whites, unbeaten, 1 1/3 cups crushed peppermint, water and cream of tartar baking powder in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and heat constantly with rotary egg beater until mixture will hold a peak (about 7 minutes). Remove from fire, add salt and beat until thick enough to spread. Spread between cake layers, sprinkling each with some of the coarsely crushed peppermint. Cover top and sides of cake. Heap center top of cake with coconut. Press peppermint stick halves into frosting around sides of cake; put remaining pieces on top.

C.I.O. Meets to Look Over Political Races

Washington, Aug. 19 (AP)—The C.I.O.'s top leaders assembled here today to survey the national political races and—maybe—to resume their right wing vs. left wing quarrels.

They will not endorse any candidate for president, according to a spokesman, who said only the C.I.O. Executive Board can do that.

Today's meeting was to include President Philip Murray, Secretary James Carey, the nine C.I.O. vice-presidents, and director Jack Kroll of the C.I.O. Political Action Committee.

There were reports that the private session would be heated up by a discussion of recent migrations of members from the C.I.O.'s left-wing (anti-Marshall Plan, pro-Henry Wallace) unions to such right-wing unions as the auto workers.

Left-wing leaders have been sending complaints to Murray that their unions are being raided.

President Walter Reuther of the auto workers, a C.I.O. vice-president, was expected to stay in Detroit and be represented here by Emil Mazey, U.A.W. secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Scott of 44 Crane street, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Shirley Scott to Alden C. Hunt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden C. Hunt, Sr., of 72 Prince street. The wedding will take place at 2:30 p. m. September 11, in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. John Haas and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Leudtke and daughter, Janet, left August 14 for a vacation trip to Washington, D. C. They are now spending some time in Virginia.

Bridal Shower Given For Miss Flora Lyke

Saturday evening, Miss Carol Roth and Miss Evelyn Merchant were co-hostesses at a bridal shower given for Miss Flora Lyke at Miss Merchant's home, 60 Smith avenue.

Miss Lyke is to be married September 5 to Warren Werner of this city.

Under an umbrella decorated with pink and blue tulle of crepe paper was a basket similarly decorated containing small gifts. Tucked around the edge of the basket were cards on which were written hints as to where the larger boxes might be found.

Pink and white gladioli were used for floral decorations and a huge cake frosted in pink and white conveyed a message of "good luck" to the bride-to-be.

Those present were: Mrs. Charles Werner, Mrs. LeRoy Lyke, Mrs. Robin Lyke, Mrs. William Lyke, Mrs. Fred Wiederman, Mrs. Edward Gildenstern, Mrs. William Nickerson, Mrs. Charles Roth, Miss Carol Roth, Miss Jacqueline Leininger, Miss Audrey Werner, Miss Dorothy Peters, Miss Evelyn Thomas, Miss Evelyn Merchant, Mrs. Helen Gill.

Kenneth Mower, Malden.

Weds Evelyn A. Myer
Miss Evelyn A. Myer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McKinley Myer of Malden, and Kenneth A. Mower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mower of Malden, were united in marriage Sunday, August 8, at 3 p. m. The double ring ceremony was performed under the beautiful flower arbor by the Rev. Robert Baines of Kingston, former pastor of the Centerville Methodist Church.

The bride, who wore an aqua shantung street length dress, was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant was Mrs. Melvin Schmitt who wore a pink dress similar to the bride's. Melvin Schmitt was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn of the bride's parents. A cafeteria supper was served by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Marion Schwettmann of Kingston, to 75 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Mower left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the Thousand Islands and Canada.

Around the Calendar Fair
The committee for the tea table of the Around the Calendar Fair to be held Wednesday, August 25, in the rear of the Governor Clinton Hotel, has made arrangements to serve tea, sandwiches and cookies in the afternoon and ice cream and sandwiches in the evening. Mrs. Harry Beatty announced today.

For fast travel on ice, a penguin slides on its stomach, propelling itself with its feet and flippers.

Married Sunday

MR. AND MRS. WALTER T. LEMISTER

Miss Wilma J. Lavsa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lavsa, of Port Ewen and Walter T. Lemister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lemister, of 34 Elmendorf street, were married on Sunday, August 15. The ceremony was performed in the gardens of the bridegroom's parents by the Rev. Kenneth Lloyd Garrison, minister of the First Baptist Church of Waterville, Maine, who is a cousin of the bride. Deyo-Coles Nuptial Takes Place Sunday

New Paltz, Aug. 19—The marriage of Miss Catherine E. Deyo, daughter of Mrs. Theron Deyo of Pataunkunk, and LeRoy J. Coles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coles of Pataunkunk, was solemnized Sunday at 1 p. m. by the Rev. John Hart of Accord.

The bride wore a powder blue gown with white accessories. Miss Ethel Love of Ellenville, maid of honor, wore a pink gown with blue accessories.

Harold Schwab of Kerhonkson was the best man.

A reception followed for the immediate families at the home of the bride's mother. The house was beautifully decorated with gladioli and other summer flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole left for a wedding trip through northern New York state. Upon their return, they will reside in a newly built and furnished home.

Club Notices

Peach Festival at New Paltz Church

This year the Peach Festival at the New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church features, not only peaches and cream to eat, but also peaches and cream complexes.

At 4 o'clock next Wednesday the baby buggies begin bouncing and the tiny toddlers try out their land legs in the Baby Parade.

The parade will go part way down Huguenot street and back into the church grounds where the judges, Mrs. Walter Hasbrouck, Frank Slack, and Arthur Jorgensen, will draw the names for Mr. and Miss Peach Festival of 1948. Those two tykes then will be duly crowned and presented with ribbons bearing their titles.

Next will come the judging and presentation of ribbons for the following characteristics: Carriage most nicely decorated, bluest eyes, curliest hair, darkest eyes, longest hair, sleepest, sweetest coo, proudest grandma, proudest grandpa, youngest, most expressive hands, sweetest dimples, daintiest feet, chubbiest, rosiest cheeks, most lady-like, most gentlemanly, liveliest, chattiest, quietest.

Colonials Edge Stamford, 5-4; Memorial Is Held for Babe Ruth

Goldsmith Cracks Homer in Eighth To Decide Outcome

Zeke Bonura, the Banana Man, hit one of the most prodigious home runs in municipal stadium history. The Colonials almost inspired another mass of heart attacks in the ninth but when the final returns were in last night, the score was Kingston 5, Stamford 4.

Stamford rallied to score twice in the ninth after a sudden collapse by Harry Bedell and had the bases loaded when Ed Musial induced Ed McGreal to end the game with a fly to Johnny Elenchin.

Max Goldsmith's first homer at the stadium with "Digger" Odell aboard in the eighth gave Bedell a 5-2 margin to work on. But "High Harry" collapsed. He had pitched five consecutive innings of hitless ball from the fourth through the eighth.

Bedell walked Bonura and Jacobson on nine pitched balls and served up two to Gerroton before Kanis replaced him. Joe picked up two strikes on the Stamford shortstop before he rifled a single to left leading the bases. Orlando fanned but McGreal, a toughie, spiked a single to center scoring Bonura and Jacobson. Pitcher Schacht smashed a vicious liner to right center where Elenchin batted it in and after Leone walked, Musial skied to center. The fans put their aspirins away and headed for the exits.

"High Harry" who won his fourth straight at the stadium was terrified after yielding two home runs to Ed Musial and Bonura in the third. He fanned nine men and walked four.

Musial dumped a shot about 350 feet into right field with one out in the third and a few seconds later Bonura picked on a high ball and sent it screaming to the top of the bank in left center at the 390-foot marker. The pellet traveled well over 400 feet and was one of the hardest hit balls in stadium history. It was the Banana Man's third circuit clout at the stadium.

A big break helped the Colonials beat St. Schacht, a right hander who was Bonura's ace. Singles by Ed McNamara and Odell and two long flies produced a Kingston marker in the third.

Third baseman Russo turned a routine play into a costly two-run error in the fifth. Matzer walked to open the game. The Colonials were snuffed in files but Eddie Kobesky smashed a solid shot to center. Russo took the outfield relay and in trying to cut down Matzer going into the plate he hit the Colonial shortstop in the back. Kobesky meanwhile was tearing around second and continuing all the way to the pylon station where the ball struck catcher McGreal.

What proved to be the winning runs came quickly and dramatically in the eighth. Kobesky led off with a grand scorcher to center. Odell forced him at second and Goldsmith waited the second pitch about 375 feet over the left center.

COLONIAL CAPERS: Despite threatening weather more than 1500 attended the Kingston Patrolmen Association's game. Bonura either walks or hits in Kingston. Players concede he is a batter without a weakness. Judge Laviano plunked a pair of hits to maintain a high BA at home. Both of Kobesky's safeties were solid smashes. Any day now Joe Kanis will be known as "Fireman Joe". Where was Charlie Broadhead? Ken Hyatt, energetic K.P.A. president, handled a million details of the game and still had enough left to smile at the reception at the Elks Club. Next stop: Port Chester. County Judge John M. Cashin was a press box visitor and awarded Eddie Kobesky $5 for his double.

THE DAY BABE RUTH VISITED KINGSTON IN 1926

The immortal Babe Ruth, wearing his New York Yankee uniform, stands out as big as life itself in this pose taken with members of the Bay Ridge squad in October, 1926, when Ruth played first base for the Colonials in a post-season exhibition game at the old Fair Grounds. The Babe didn't connect for a homer but hit a double and two singles. Members of the Bay Ridge club who lost 1-0 on Matty Deegan's ninth inning homer, are unidentified.

eulogized the Bambino as "a symbol of the American way of life." He said baseball would never forget his contributions to the game and millions of Americans would never forget his inspiration to the youth of the nation.

"Babe Ruth was an institution in the great panorama of American life," he said.

Judge Cashin spoke while members of both teams and the umpires lined up along the baselines at home plate. The stadium lights were dimmed and a huge spotlight played on the speaker and a gigantic wreath with a large number "3" rested at home plate. Through his long and brilliant career with the Yankees, Ruth wore No. 3 on the back of his uniform.

After Judge Cashin's speech, a bugler sounded taps from second base while the spectators arose and bowed their heads. The huge floral piece and wreath were then hung over the right field fence for the duration of the contest.

Spectators, umpires and players alike were deeply moved by Judge Cashin's eloquence and the inspirational uplift of the memorial program. Players of both clubs said it was one of the finest tributes they had ever seen in baseball.

Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, introduced Judge Cashin.

Major League Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

A new found strength on the mound is making the Brooklyn Dodgers the team to beat in the National League.

Burt Shotton's Brooks shut out the Philadelphia Phillies last night 1-0, to climb within one game of the slipping Boston Braves. The Braves were beaten by the Giants in New York 8-2.

Rex Barney for the Brooks gave the best performance of his major league career. He permitted only one hit, a fifth inning single by third baseman Ralph Caballero.

Rookie Robin Roberts, the Phillies' bonus right-hander, made an error and had a wild pitch to allow Brooklyn's lone run in the first. Marvin Rackley singled and moved to second on an infield out. Roberts threw into centerfield and Rackley raced to third. With Pee Wee Reese at bat, Roberts uncorked a wild pitch and Rackley scored.

The third place St. Louis Cardinals also took advantage of Boston's defeat, coming from behind to edge the Cincinnati Reds in St. Louis, 4-3. The Cards now are now only two and a half games off the pace.

Trailing 3-2 in the last of the ninth, the Cards quickly tied the score when Nippy Jones tripled. Ralph LaPointe ran for Jones and scored on Del Rice's single. Red Schoendienst ran for Rice and Schoendienst was sacrificed to second. After Ron Northey walked, Marty Marion hit what appeared to be a double play ball, but Red Stalcup threw wild past first trying to get the last out, and Schoendienst scored the winning run. Eight-hit pitcher by Sheldon Jones and home runs by Johnny Mize (No. 29) and Sid Gordon (No. 24) were the highlights of the Giants' victory over the Braves. It was Jones' 12th triumph. Vern Bickford, first of four Boston pitchers, was the loser.

The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for six runs in the top of the eighth to come from behind and defeat the Cubs in Chicago 7-4. Bob Chesnes, the winning pitcher, contributed to the victory with a pair of singles. The victory moved the fourth place Bucs to within five games of the Braves.

Tribe Increases Lead
 The Cleveland Indians extended their first place margin in the American League to three full games over the Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics by defeating the St. Louis Browns, 8-0. Sammy Zolack, former Brownie, was found for nine hits by his ex-mates but was tough in the clutch.

Alvin Clark got three hits, and scored all the Indians' runs. Ed Robinson drove him in twice with a double and single, and Larry Doby sent him home once with a single. Joe Ostrowski, outfielder, scored a month ago from Toledo, was the Browns' loser.

The Red Sox climbed over the Athletics into second place by two percentage points when they unleashed a 17-hit attack against three Philadelphia pitchers to whip the A's, 10-2. Ted Williams and Birdie Tebbets paced the Red Sox attacks with three hits apiece.

Winners Register Three in Fifth To Break Deadlock

Backing up Andy Radtko's fifty-four hit hurling with a blast of three runs in the bottom half of the fifth inning, Stauble's Bakery protected its lead on fifth place in City Baseball League standings Wednesday night by registering a 6 to 3 victory over Wiltwyck Motors.

Radtko, nothing his fifth straight conquest over league opponents, also turned in his third win in a span of eight days. He was touched for a run in the first and a pair of markers in the fourth. Only two of Wiltwyck's runs were scored as errors.

Last night's big win kept the Bakers very much in the running for a playoff berth. The club, with seven wins as against a half dozen setbacks, is just two games out of first place and a slim one and a half games in back of Jones Dairy and Morgan's Rest who are tied for second.

Secrets Is Wild
 Secret, the mound choice for Wiltwyck's last night, hurled five-hit ball but was the victim of his own wildness. He issued seven walks over the five and a half inning route and also uncorked a wild pitch.

The losers dented the scoring column first on a single by Ferraro, a sacrifice and an error by Lucas, Stauble's shortstop. Stauble's jumped right back with a pair of markers after Goff reached on Francello's misplay. After Goff pilfered second, Felipe stroked a single and Decker walked. Benjamin also singled scoring Goff and Decker.

The winners made it 3-1 in the bottom half of the second with Tobias working Secret for a walk to open it up. Radtko and Goff reached Secret for one-base blows driving in Tobias.

Wiltwycks Tie Score
 The Motormen knotted the count in the fourth on a single by Francello, a walk to Tommy Carlinio, Uhl's sacrifice and an error by Decker on J. Carlinio's bounder.

That set the stage for the Bakers to help Radtko along to his fifth straight triumph. Benjamin opened the session on a life when he reached first on Carlinio's error. Secret lost control of the situation with successive walks to Brown and Tobias and then forced the first run in with a free ticket to Lucas. Brown and Tobias scampered home when Radtko's grounder to Francello went through the fielder's legs for an error.

K.A.A. Juniors and Pee-wees Beat Saugerties, 4-1 and 11-2

The Kingston Athletic Association's all-star junior and pee-wee baseball teams swept a double-header from the Saugerties Lions Club squads this week, 4 to 1 and 11 to 2, to win the series in two straight.

Joe Norton hit a home run and Renssieu fanned 12 men in the junior game in which no runs were earned on either side. The locals collected six hits off Whitaker who was hobbled by poor support. He fanned four.

The third but a home run by Norton with a man on base made it 2-1 in the fourth and two more runs scored in the fifth.

Dunham has 2 hits. Dunham belted two singles for the K.A.A. In the five-inning pee-wee game, the locals scored six times in the first inning and added five in the fourth. Don Dempsey pitched three perfect innings for Kingston and was relieved by Telepas who yielded the hit and run.

John led the K.A.A. with two hits. Telepas had a double and other hits went to Hotelling.

Local Men Have Part in Program For Ruth Story

In connection with the screening of "The Babe Ruth Story," for three days at Radio's Kingston Theatre, Manager Robert Case has arranged a program to commemorate the memory of the great home run king.

The movie, depicting the life of the baseball star, is scheduled to open at the uptown theatre Sunday and play until and including Tuesday, featuring William Bendix as the Babe.

Case has arranged a special program for Monday at the theatre in which he said members of the City League would participate, also oldtime baseball players some of whom played with Babe Ruth when he appeared in Kingston in 1926.

One of the features will be presentation of a life-size portrait of Babe Ruth by the theatre management to President Thomas Davitt of the City League.

Manager Case said he intended to procure autographed baseballs for the players who were connected with the old Colonials when the Babe played in Kingston, mentioning Matty Deegan, Bill Schwab, Judge Bernard A. "Bud" Culloton, Judge Harry E. Schrick, Joe Hoffman, and Tom Davitt, also the Bruhn brothers, Louis G. district attorney of Ulster county and Fred.

Ulster Postmasters Annual Picnic Aug. 22

The annual picnic of the Ulster County Postmasters' Association, will be held Sunday, August 22, at 2 p. m. The hostess, Postmaster Betsy VonderOsten of Shokan, will serve cafeteria style, on her spacious lawn; which is located on Route 28, one-half mile west of Shokan Post Office, left turn beyond Stone Church.

Postmasters and their families are urged to attend this occasion and enjoy the VonderOsten's hospitality.

Disaster Corps Leaves on Sunday

The State War Disaster Military Corps, which is part of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, headed by Col. Frank Harkin, will leave August 22 for a 15-day training period at Camp Smith, Peekskill, it was announced today.

The Kingston contingent is joined with that of Poughkeepsie to form a single unit, and Lt. Jack Parker of this city is in command. Maj. Hervey A. Keator, liaison officer, recently returned from Camp Smith, will also be with the unit which will remain at the camp until September 5. The men will receive basic infantry training and other instruction.

Trifle Dessert
To make the dessert called Trifle, make white cake cubes in the bottom of a dessert bowl, dot with a few tablespoons of currant or grape jelly or strawberry or raspberry preserves. Now add another layer of the cake cubes and pour custard sauce over the top. Chill well and serve garnished with some of the jelly or jam used.

BUILDING VESSEL 20 MILES FROM SEA

Two West Bridgewater, Mass., marine corps veterans, Joseph J. Green, 22 (left), and John L. Pocius, 21, work on their 40-foot, 16-ton fishing boat 20 miles from the sea. They are devoting their spare time to construction of the vessel they hope to complete by December to pursue a career at sea. Neither boy is a carpenter or ever worked in a shipyard. It will be hauled to the ocean by trailer. (AP Wirephoto)

Michigan Man Buys Car Via London, Says Cash Saved

Lake Orion, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP)—Dick Wells, a commercial airman pilot who discovered a quick way to get delivery on a new car, claimed today he saved $567 by buying it through a dealer in London, 4,000 miles away.

Officials of the Studebaker Corp. at South Bend, Ind., confirmed his story of the strange transaction.

But they denied that the 1948 model was sold for any less than he would have paid his regular dealer here.

Wells told this story: He placed his order for a new Studebaker about a year ago and was waiting patiently for delivery when he stopped over at London while flying to Calcutta a few weeks ago.

Strolling through the streets of the English city, he saw the same model he had ordered on display in a dealer's window. Its price was $1,520, the dealer said. Wells recalled the car he had ordered at home had a price tag of $2,367.

The dealer said Wells could have immediate delivery, and suggested, when the pilot asked about shipping arrangements, that he place the order in London and pick up the car at South Bend.

The American did so, and received the car at the London dealer's office, he asserted.

However, Studebaker officials insisted the list price on Wells' model was $1,861, here and abroad. What the pilot must have paid, they added, was that amount with a foreign dealer's handling charge of $14 tacked on.

The $2,367 figure, they suggested, might have been the cost of a higher-priced Studebaker model in this country.

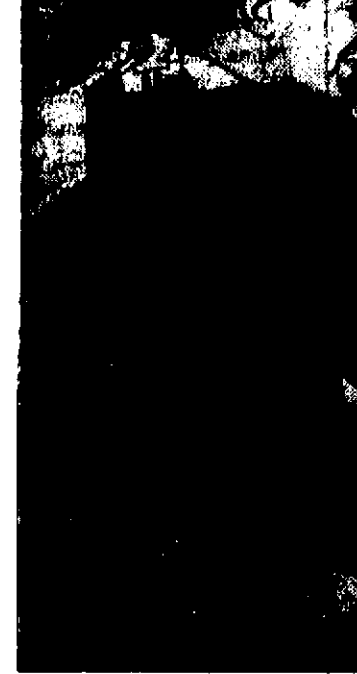

While such transactions have been completed before, a company spokesman went on, they are intended for diplomats and other Americans stationed abroad. They may buy their new cars in this country through foreign dealers but do so with the intention of using them outside the limits of the United States.

He said the London dealer must have assumed Wells wanted to use the car in Great Britain.

The spokesman also declared he did not understand how Wells could have seen the car on display in London. Dealers there have had no models for that purpose in months, he said.

Are Charged With Sodomy
Matthew J. Urell, 41, who gave his address as 18 Belvedere street, and Frank Lawrence, 60, of Allingville, were arrested by Special Patrolman Claude Haines at 11:30 a. m. today on charges of sodomy, the police reported. Both men are being held in jail to await hearing in City Court tomorrow.

Police charged the act took place in a truck behind a factory building on Cornell street.

Reports Not Confirmed
Reports which circulated in the uptown section of the city this morning to the effect that a safe and its contents had been stolen from a Main street office were not confirmed by Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren today. The chief said that no such reports had reached police headquarters and that they probably are false.

Television Stars Hold Vaudeville Show Spotlight

George Freems and Phyllis Willis, two rising young television stars, will hold the spotlight on Friday and Saturday, August 20 and 21 on the five-act professional vaudeville show at the Broadway Theatre.

Freems, who has appeared frequently on the new New York station WPIX, will present the comic "Polish Statesman" act that earned him the video dates and will also double as master of ceremonies.

Miss Willis, a pretty brunette, is one of the few girl ventriloquists to appear to date on television. In addition to work on Philadelphia's WFIL, she has also played as Cleveland's well-known Bath and Polo Club, in the "Man and Her Boy" act which she will bring to Kingston.

One matinee and two evening shows will be presented daily, in addition to the Broadway's first-run screen attraction, the action picture "Adventure in Silverado" with William Bishop and Gloria Henry. Friday afternoon, at a special kiddie matinee, the western "Prairie Raiders" will be shown in addition to the vaudeville.

Unusual comedy relief for the show will be supplied by the Three Arnauts, who with the help of feather dusters, violins and bird whistles, present a hilarious 15-minute act entitled "A Day With the Birds and the Bees."

Also featured will be Fred and Ann Carroll, a team of clever impersonators, who work with masks of the famous Hollywood stars.

Juggling will also be on the stage, with Kay and Karol presenting their "Tossing 'Em at Home" act. Working in a mock room complete with furniture and dishes, they toss chairs and china around as well as the conventional discs and pins.

Softball Scores

Battering out 14 assorted base knocks, the Newcombe Oilers scored an easy 15 to 2 win over Hercules Wednesday night at St. Mary's Park. Fink McElrath pitched a neat seven-hitter for the winners.

Des Titus and Babe Riggins paced the Oilers with three hits each. Titus batted out a triple and two singles while Riggins collected a double and a pair of one-basers.

Feature of the game was Don MacCollam's 325-foot home run clout into left field to open the second inning. MacCollam also had a double.

Defensive features were turned in by Bob Sicker of the winners and Danny Gill of Hercules who made sensational catches in the outfield.

Scores by innings:
Hercules 100 100— 2 7 4
Newcombes .. 371 43x—18 14 0

Batteries—Newell, Noble, Walker, Tierney and Studt. McElrath and Titus.

Subways Rout Vets
Two big innings, the second and sixth, were enough for the Subway Grill to win last night's 10 to 5 game over the V.F.W. moshers at the upper Haverbrook Park diamond. T. Spada hurried for the winners while Schmitz did the tossing for the Vets.

Scores by innings:
Vets 200 300 0— 5
Subway 040 015 x—10

Royals Dump Sicklers
The Royal Grill put together nine base hits for as many runs last night to blank the Sickler's Delivery by 5 to 0. The winners scored in the first four in the second and two each in the third and fourth to complete the rout.

Enright hurled a neat four-hitter for the winners while Hunt was charged with the loss.

The big blow of the game was struck by Form Coughlin who unseated a grand slam homer in the second inning. In all, Coughlin batted in six runs last night.

Scores by innings:
Royal Grill 142 200 0—9
Sickler's 000 000 0—0

Englewood Girl Hurt While Diving

Norma Dreyer, 15, of Englewood, N. J., injured her back about 4 p. m. Wednesday while diving in a swimming area near the Spillway Lodge, West Hurley, where she is a guest, local police reported. She was brought to Kingston Hospital in an automobile by other guests, where her condition was described as "fairly good" by hospital authorities today.

According to the report from the Spillway Lodge, the girl was doing a back-flip dive, and struck her back on the edge of the diving board. She was rushed to Kingston in an automobile and on arriving within the city limits a police car gave escort to the hospital. She was unconscious on arrival, but was suffering apparently from shock, since the injury proved to be slight, according to the hospital report.
